POUNDED TO DEATH WITH KEGS THROWN FROM A HIGH CLIFF

Anthony Blier of Braddock Stopped to Rest and Was Murdered.

SKULL FRACTURED

Companion Hustled Him to a Hospital, but He Was Fatally Injured.

HAD BEEN LOOKING AT LOTS

While resting under a cliff on a roadway near Trafford City, the life of Anthony Blier of Washington street, Braddock, was pounded out of him by beer kegs thrown by Italians from the top of the cliff. Blier's skull was badly fractured and he died at the West Penn hospital shortly after 8 o'clock last night. The dead man's assailants have escaped. The county detectives were detailed to the scene last night, but at a late hour they had not placed any of the men under arrest.

Blier, with Harry Kline, who is employed as a clerk in the grocery store of J. Weinberger at No. 5452 Second avenue, went to Trafford City yesterday afternoon to look at some lots Blier had bought. The men are close friends and spent their Sundays together.

After looking at the lots they started to walk to Stewart station. On the roadway Blier suggested they sit down under a cliff in the shade and rest. The men seated themselves and Kline said he wanted a drink of water and went to a spring close by. Kline said a number of Italians were sitting on top of the cliff and they were drinking and singing.

Kline paid no attention to them. After he had taken a drink of water he looked up at the cliff and saw three Italians with beer kegs in their hands. In an instant they threw them down on Blier. One of the kegs struck Blier on the head. Blier was knocked senseless. Kline ran over to him and tried to restore him by throwing water on his face. He got assistance and took Blier to a physician's office. The doctor said Blier's skull was fractured and advised sending him to a hospital.

The injured man was taken to Stewarts station in a carriage and was placed in the West Penn hospital at 8 o'clock. He never gained consciousness from the blow, and died 20 minutes after being admitted to the hospital. The body was taken to the morgue at midnight and Dr. Walter C. McCandless made a post mortem examination.

Blier was a grocery clerk for Adam Lefkovitz of Washington avenue, Braddock. He was single and 31 years old.

SCENES AT FUNERAL OF A SOLDIER'S VICTIM

William H. Crowley's Pallbearers.

SOLDIER'S VICTIM BURIED; MAN WHO SHOT HIM TO HAVE COURT-MARTIAL AT FT. NIAGARA

Crowley's Mother Fainted Beside Grave During Son's Funeral.

PREACHER'S ORATION

"Let the law be supreme, but in our sympathy and in our prayers for the comfort of this heartbroken mother, let us join in devout supplication that Jesus will effect a speedy triumph in dealing with the cause of the anguish which visits this stricken family."

With these words the Rev. C. P. Wiles, pastor of the Mt. Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, Forty-fourth street, yesterday afternoon closed his sermon over the remains of William H. Crowley, who was shot by a soldier near the Allegheny arsenal on Thursday morning. The funeral, which was held from the residence of Mrs. William Corless, the grandmother of the victim, in Almond alley, between Fortieth and Forty-first streets, Lawrenceville, was attended by over 500 persons. The white casket was piled high with floral tributes, and, while the minister was speaking and courting the peaceable appeal to the law to take its way, some of the neighbors made loud threats of vengeance.

The little frame house was thronged an hour before the time for the services to begin. The young man's parents, his little sister Clara, and his brothers, Harry and George, sat in the room around the plain white casket. Mrs. Crowley refused to be comforted. When the funeral party left the house she had to be assisted to the carriage. At the grave, which was in the public section in the valley of the Allegheny cemetery, the scene was most pathetic.

The casket was carried over the hard-beaten clay and rested on braces over the grave. The minister had begun his final prayer and benediction. Nearly 1,000 people crowded about the tomb.

"Oh, if I were only with him," shrieked the anguished mother, her wail of sorrow drowning the voice of the minister. She swooned in her husband's arms and lay unconscious beside the grave while Mr. Wiles recited the words which committed her son to immortality.

"Ashes to ashes," repeated the minister, "and dust to dust." The words of the benediction aroused the mother and she was carried groaning to the carriage. It was not the first time that she had lost a son by the untimely stroke of fate. Less than four years ago her younger son, James, was killed on the railroad while playing ball, and the second affliction proved greater than she could bear, and after the funeral she was prostrated.

The services were simple. After a few comforting words by Mr. Wiles the choir, composed of Rafael Ryan, George Britsch, Misses Laura and Emma Braun, and Miss Clara Vetter, sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Lead, Kindly Light." A prayer followed, and the casket, with its burden of flowers, was carried to the hearse.

Among the floral offerings was a vacant chair of flowers from young Crowley's fellow-workmen, in Monaca, and tributes from scores of neighbors in the Lawrenceville district. The pallbearers were John Dickson, Peter Poland, George Schwartz, Samuel King, Albert Schabner and Frank Edgar, all the young men being chosen from Crowley's old Lawrenceville playmates.

The alley and the yard surrounding the house were packed with people, and, while the crowd lingered outside its door catching the words of the sermon or the song, many threats were made against the garrison force at the arsenal. The soldier who shot Crowley was denounced as a murderer.

Trial of Private Who Shot Youth Near Allegheny Arsenal.

INSTRUCTIONS TODAY

The private who shot William H. Crowley near the Allegheny arsenal Thursday morning will be tried by court-martial. It is now positive that the soldier will not be turned over to the civil authorities. Lieut. R. W. Drury has preferred charges against the private for shooting young Crowley, which were sent by mail to Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, commanding the department of the east, at Governors island, New York. The court-martial likely will be held at Fort Niagara, the post to which the detail at the Allegheny arsenal belongs.

Lieut. Drury is now awaiting an answer from Gen. Chaffee, which is expected this morning. The army officer in charge of the arsenal refused to say just what the charges consisted of or reveal the name of the private. Lieut. Drury's work in the case is now completed, and he will await the result of the finding of the court-martial.

Lieut. Drury entered the charges against the private on the advice of Capt. P. C. Harris of the Ninth infantry of the United States army, who was detailed here by Gen. Chaffee to make an investigation. Capt. Harris left for his post at Fort Niagara, Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday afternoon, having completed his investigation. Capt. Harris received a communication from Gen. Chaffee and Lieut. Drury preferred charges against the private immediately.

Lieut. Drury refused to go into much of a discussion of the case yesterday. After stating that he had preferred charges against the shooter he said:

"The soldier who shot Crowley is an old and experienced man. He has seen service in the regular army in China and the Philippines. He was in Cuba with the volunteers during the Spanish-American war. So you can understand he is not a raw recruit. The soldier bears an excellent record and is a cool, practical man, being one of the best in the company. He understands orders and how to obey them. I refuse to say who he is. I do not want to annoy his family with the notoriety that would follow."

Lieut. Drury then said the court-martial proceedings will be begun and the case will be disposed of by the military authorities. Capt. Harris decided after his investigation that the soldier was in regular line of duty when he shot Crowley. He was ordered to do so and consequently was not guilty of any criminal act. Therefore he thinks it is a case for the military authorities to test and not that of the civil courts.

The case has no precedent. After the case is disposed of by the court-martial it is possible it will be tested by other means of justice.

The private will be tried by what is known as a summary court-martial, established for trying enlisted men. The court has the power to test capital cases. The court is appointed in times of peace by the commander of the department in which the offense is committed. Therefore Gen. Chaffee will appoint the members of the court and also a judge advocate. The judge advocate is vested with the power to summon witnesses for the prosecution and defense. An officer is also selected to look after the defendant's interests. The judge advocate is also vested with the power to administer oaths, and all members of the court, and witnesses, are sworn to secrecy.

ALLEGHENIAN'S BODY FOUND AT BINGHAMTON

No Means of Identification Except Bank Deposit Certificates.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The body of a well-dressed man was found floating in the river here last night. It has been in the water such a length of time that it was decomposed and it was impossible to discover from external marks whether or not he had met with foul play.

In his pockets were found certificates of deposit on a New York state bank for $100 issued July 21, and $40 issued August 25. There were several letters indicating that he was from Allegheny, Pa., but failing to give his address in that city. He was of Irish descent, with sandy complexion, red hair, smooth face, evidently about 48 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. The police have no theory other than suicide to offer. The banks cannot identify the certificates. Despite the fact that decomposition is so far advanced, an effort will be made to keep the body for a day or two in hope of identification.

BYERS GIFT TO YALE.

Truss Work of Gymnasium Covering Will Be Donated by Five Alumni.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—It is said here that five members of the Byers family of Pittsburgh who have graduated from Yale university will donate to the university the steel truss work necessary to support the glass roof over the proposed addition to the gymnasium. The plan is to enclose the entire lot back of that building and to use it for baseball, football and track team candidates' practice in weather too inclement to permit work on Yale field.

Lawrence N. Byers, of the class of 1893; Alexander Byers, 1894; Dallas C. Byers, 1898; E. McB. Byers, 1901, and John Fred Byers, of the present senior class, are the young alumni who are said to be planning to make the gift. The memory of a member of the family is honored by the handsome Byers memorial hall recently opened.

SUBURB OF CLEVELAND DECLINES CARNEGIE OFFER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Glenville, a suburb of Cleveland, has declined an offer of a library from Andrew Carnegie. Some months ago, it is claimed, the dispenser of libraries promised to give the city $42,000 for a building on the usual conditions. The council passed the necessary tax levy to maintain the institution. Now it appears that there was some misunderstanding, for all that Carnegie will give is $15,000. This has offended the citizens and the committee has written that the city will not accept the library under any conditions.

Second Westinghouse Reception.

LENOX, MASS., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Mrs. George Westinghouse will give the second of a series of afternoon receptions tomorrow.

MOB ATTACKS ARSENAL SOLDIER: SQUAD CALLED TO RESCUE HIM

Because a soldier belonging to the Ninth infantry at the Allegheny arsenal refused to give the name of the private who shot William H. Crowley outside of the arsenal grounds last Thursday, an unknown man struck the infantryman a severe blow on the face late Saturday night as he was walking along Butler, near Thirty-sixth street. The soldier attempted to protect himself, but a mob went to the rescue of the unknown man, forcing the soldier to take to his heels. He ran into a saloon at Thirty-sixth street and took refuge in a rear room. The crowd followed, yelling for the soldier's blood and revenge for Crowley. The infantryman luckily, by the aid of a telephone, got word to his barracks and acting Lieut. Frank Vincent hastened to the hotel with a squad of men just in time to save the infantryman from violence. The mob was dispersed by the detachment from the arsenal, but all of the men managed to escape toward the river. No arrests were made.

BIGELOW FIGURES STAGGER ARDENT MECHANICAL MEN

Councilman Brown Surprised by the Estimates Furnished by the Director—Cost of Sand Filter System Now in Operation.

"Director Bigelow increased the estimate made by the filtration committee by over $2,000,000," said Councilman Thomas M. Brown, who is chairman of the committee. "We thought that our figures were large. We had based them on reports which were thought to be authentic, but, of course, not being experts, we cannot say how close we were to the correct price."

Councilman Brown, it has been generally conceded, is an advocate of mechanical filtration. His surprise at the director's estimates is good evidence that Mr. Bigelow has gone farther than the most ardent mechanical man had hoped.

Supt. W. C. Hawley of the Pennsylvania Water Company, which supplies the Wilkinsburg district, last night said that their plant had a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons a day and furnished filtered water to its patrons. The water is drawn through sand cribs in the bottom of the Allegheny river, and the plant was built at an outlay which is proportionately infinitesimal compared with that of the proposed plant for Pittsburgh.

Superintendent Hawley said that the Allegheny river, having a sandy bed, was particularly adapted for crib filters. The cost of maintaining cribs does not exceed $3,000 a year.

This afternoon Director Bigelow will go into councils and offer his estimate of $7,152,000 for the building of a sand filtration plant. Councilmen will be expected to lose their breath and look dumbfounded, but there are likely to be some misses. It will be apparent to the spectators that all have not trained to juggle millions so dexterously as Director Bigelow.

The special committee on filtration, which was entertained on Saturday afternoon with the Bigelow compilation of figures, will go into councils with practically no report, and will gracefully take to the deep background, while the director will claim the center of the stage and the limelight.

There will be no fanfare of trumpets to introduce the star in this impromptu travesty on "The Billionaire." The committee will retire and the director will read his list of estimates. The figures as to totals will be the same as those published in The Gazette yesterday. Besides totals there will be little in the way of details or specifications. Round numbers, generously rounded out, will appear in each item. Without going behind the figures or without studying the animus of the tremendous outlay, it would be made to appear that sand and filtration would be utterly beyond the financial grasp of even a wealthy city like Pittsburgh.

The bigelow estimate, however, will be met with numerous counter propositions. Among councilmen yesterday the $7,152,000 estimate was received with comparatively little surprise by those who knew which way the wind blew in the administration's plans for giving Pittsburgh pure water.

On the South Side the people were almost a unit in declaring that a bond issue looking toward the building of a filtration plant would be opposed if the director's extravagant estimate was favorably received. The people on that side of the river took the big estimate to mean that it was but a move to wedge in mechanical filtration.

MRS. C. L. MAGEE CLINGS TO PITTSBURGH HOME

Denies That She Will Take Up Her Permanent Residence in Rome—Will Remain Here Until November.

Mrs. Christopher Lyman Magee returned yesterday to her Pittsburgh home, the Maples, at Forbes and Halket streets, after an absence of more than a year in Italy. Mrs. Magee decried that she would make Rome her permanent place of residence and declared that she would always maintain the Pittsburgh homestead.

Mrs. Magee, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Drayo Stewart, arrived in New York on Saturday on the White Star steamer Celtic and came immediately to Pittsburgh. On their arrival at the Maples last night they were tendered an informal reception on the verandas of the fine old home. Mrs. Magee's closest friends questioned her regarding the report that she would make her permanent home in Italy.

"I cannot imagine how such a rumor gained circulation," said Mrs. Magee. "I shall always maintain a home in Pittsburgh, and I particularly love the house, for it is linked with associations that are dearest to me. I expect to return to Italy for the winter, sailing back from New York on the Celtic in November 12 next with Mrs. Stewart. I shall take some things over there for the furnishing of the house in Villino, which I have leased for a term of years.

"I shall remain in Europe perhaps two years longer. Rome has a most congenial environment for all Americans, and sojourners from this side make a colony of our own people which adds to the fascination of the old city for all visitors from this side of the Atlantic. At Quarter-time every ship that touches Italy it seems, brings its quota of Americans, and the number is increasing each year.

Mrs. Magee will entertain comparatively little during her stay in the city, and all affairs will be of a musical order and for her very close friends. She said she would probably remain in Rome two years longer. Her sojourn in Pittsburgh will be devoted principally to the transaction of business calling for her attention.

The rumor that Mrs. Magee's return would signify the beginning of work toward the erection of the Magee Memorial hospital has no foundation. The building of the institution will not be undertaken while Mrs. Magee lives. The executors have not considered even the most remote plans for the realization of Christopher Magee's gift.

CONVICTS COIN BOGUS MONEY

Prisoners in Eastern Penitentiary Engage in Counterfeiting.

HAD COMPLETE MINT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—Following closely upon the exposure of gross irregularities in the cigar department of the Eastern penitentiary came the public announcement tonight that the illegal coinage of minor silver pieces has been carried on by convicts in the big institution.

The fact that such a daring scheme had been carried on in the penitentiary was made public by George Vaux, Jr., one of the prison inspectors, who said:

"Dr. W. L. Robinson and George Vaux, Jr., who are at present the visiting inspectors on duty at the Eastern penitentiary, make the statement that there has come to their official knowledge that within a short time an attempt has been made by certain convicts confined in the penitentiary to manufacture counterfeit silver coins. But a few pieces were made, and a number of those have come into the possession of the inspectors, together with the metals and chemicals used, the attempt thus being nipped in the bud. The evidence in the case is not yet complete, but all that has been secured has been submitted to the United States authorities."

It was learned that dimes, quarters and half dollars were the coins manufactured. The discovery was made several days ago, and United States secret service officers were immediately called in.

FOUR PERSONS ADRIFT IN DISABLED LAUNCH

Brigantine Beach Life-Savers Looking for Boat That May Have Foundered.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—In imminent danger of their boat being foundered by heavy seas, if it has not already happened, Joseph Sharp and William Edwards, with another man and woman of this city, are adrift in a disabled naphtha launch somewhere off Brigantine beach. Searching parties and crews from the Brigantine life saving stations are out in their boats making every effort to rescue the party.

Sharp and Edwards, to comply with three other men and a woman, started out in the launch Sharpe's Wonder late this afternoon for a trip up the coast. Their engine broke down and their signals for help were answered by the life saving crew, who took two men, while the remainder of the party remained in the boat, which they had anchored. When the crew went back they found that the little vessel's cable had parted and she had disappeared. The government glass fear that the boat may have drifted out to sea, where a big wave would sink it.

New York Gamblers Busy Again.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—It is reported that all the gambling houses in New York are again open after having been closed a little less than a year ago. District Attorney Jerome will be on a vacation for another 10 days, but when he returns it is expected that he will deal as severely with the reform police for permitting gambling as he would with Tammany police.

GOING AFTER TROLLEY LINES

Pennsylvania Road May Absorb Pittsburgh Railways Co.

PLAN TO GET CONTROL

COMPETITION THAT IS HURTING

All the traction lines in the two cities may soon be owned or at least controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad. It has been common gossip for some days among local financiers that such a movement was on foot.

E. M. and T. S. Bigelow, who have established most friendly relations with the Pennsylvania, are said to have taken an important part in the transaction, as it has gone so far. E. M. Bigelow, director of public works, is known to be interested in a number of new street railway companies that are seeking franchises for right of way in Pittsburgh, and his connection with these companies is said to be for the purpose of aiding the Pennsylvania railroad in perfecting its plans of controlling the trolley systems in and around the city.

That such negotiations have been opened was vigorously denied yesterday by J. H. Reed, vice president, counsel and a director of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and president of the Philadelphia Company.

Judge Reed's Denial.

"The mortgages of the Pittsburgh Railways and Philadelphia companies are so tied up that it would be impossible to separate them," said Judge Reed.

James McCrea, a director of the Pennsylvania, and Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to President Cassatt, were both out of the city yesterday.

E. B. Taylor, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west, one of the incorporators of the Ohio river traction system, while not committing himself on the probable absorption of the Pittsburgh Railways Company by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, had this to say yesterday:

"I see no reason why the Pennsylvania should not own the electric lines along the Ohio. They will build up interurban business and will be of immense value to the railroad. We now have ordinances before councils of the towns through which we propose going. I am not prepared to say what will take place when the ordinances are passed. The franchises may or may not be sold."

Heavy Suburban Business.

The suburban business of the Fort Wayne along the Ohio from Allegheny and Pittsburgh is enormously heavy, while its freight movement is too great for the number of tracks and passenger trains which now use them. The Pennsylvania proposes striking a medium by which none of its business will be injured.

Ever since the general extension of electric line building the competition with steam railroads has been growing more and more acute. President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania has remained neutral in the fight, preferring to build up the company's terminals and freight cut-offs, and allow the short-haul passenger business to take care of itself. Many of the most important Pennsylvania officials were also heavily interested in trolley systems, and for this reason they opposed any harmful campaign against electric lines that intended paralleling the Pennsylvania. Officials of that road are now anything but light stockholders in the Pittsburgh Railways Company or any subsidiary companies that go to make up the consolidated concern.

Electric Road Competition.

By advantageous connections and various inter-urban lines the trolley systems are claiming a greater percentage of the suburban traffic of the Pennsylvania railroad, and this applies particularly to the Pittsburgh district. The main line of the Pennsylvania will shortly be supported with an electric road from Pittsburgh to Greensburg, while lines are planned up and down the Ohio and up the Monongahela.

These would be allowed to have their own way and take as much business as they could if the Pennsylvania were in a position to entirely abandon suburban or short-haul traffic. Up to a certain point the trolley systems are of immense benefit as feeders to steam railroads and carriers of between-station business which only modern steam lines while not contributing materially to the passenger receipts. The electric lines, however, instead of confining themselves to the function of supplying business to the steam roads, are building up excellent lines of their own.

Profitable Investment.

Modern and heavy equipment allows traction companies to step in and take business from under the nose of the steam road, and doing it at a less cost and with profit. When the trolley line is built to Wilkinsburg it is estimated that the suburban business of the Pennsylvania railroad fell off fully 50 per cent, and that now there is not enough to pay.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company, it is understood, will retain its identity and will continue to be operated within the city limits, as heretofore, only perhaps with a more rigid discipline and with better equipment. The outlying lines will be entirely reconstructed and will serve as the main suburban outlet for the Pennsylvania railroad. This will give more room for freight trains and will permit of more frequent passenger service to the suburbs.

The Pennsylvania will first put into practical use its idea along the Ohio river on the eastern bank, where franchises have been obtained for a number of street lines starting from the Pennsylvania railroad.

The Pennsylvania Company was formed in 1904 to consolidate the electric and power and gas companies of Allegheny county, and in 1900 the nucleus of the Pittsburgh Railways Company was organized. In addition to the companies controlled by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Philadelphia Company controls or owns by lease the following companies: United Traction Company, Monongahela street railway, Suburban Rapid Transit street railway, Tustin street railway, Consolidated traction, Pittsburgh & Birmingham Company, Pittsburgh & Charleroi street railway and East McKeesport railway.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company owns the entire stock of the West End Traction Company, and the stocks of the Virginia Avenue street railway, McKees Rocks and Ingram street railway, McKees Rocks & Neville Island street railway, Crafton & Chartiers Valley traction, and Pittsburgh, Banksville & Mt. Lebanon. On January, 1902, the Pittsburgh Railways Company took over the properties owned or leased to the Consolidated and United Traction companies. The authorized capital stock of the Pittsburgh Railways Company is common, $2,500,000, and preferred, $2,500,000, all of which has been issued. The funded debt is $4,575,000.

BEGGED FOR ICE WATER.

Wilkinsburg Was Dry and the Supply of Cooling Drinks Ran Low.

Yesterday was a dry day in Wilkinsburg. No soda water was sold, and in many instances pedestrians went to the drugstores and begged a glass of ice-water. The blue law crusade is practically at an end, and the committee of 12 and the opposing committee of 5 will be disbanded. The druggists expect to open their doors next summer and sell without molestation.

In consequence of the muzzling of the soda fountains in Wilkinsburg there was a big rush of the thirsty population to Brushton, where the druggists were obliged to employ extra help to meet the demands of the suddenly increased trade. The ice-water plied in tanks through the borough by the church committee was exhausted early in the evening, and the druggists set out free ice-water drawn from the soda fountains.

DODGED THE OFFICERS.

New York Men Indicted in Postal Frauds Had Advance Information.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Information has come to light which indicates that Isaac S. McGehan and George H. Huntington, members of the Columbia Supply Company, were given advance information of the indictments returned against them by the federal grand jury here last Tuesday and have temporarily got out of the way.

It was said that word was received here from New York early Friday morning, six hours before the indictments were made public, that these men were wanted in this city to answer charges of bribery. It is said both these men disappeared from New York before the warrants could be served on them.

USED AX AND WAS SHOT.

Abe Shorty Seriously Injures William Pierce in Fight Over Rent.

William Pierce, colored, of No. 2606 Jones avenue, last night at 8:30 o'clock was shot four times by Abe Shorty, who lives at the same address. Pierce was taken to the West Penn hospital and Shorty was arrested. There was a quarrel about who should pay rent for the house. Shorty says Pierce ran into the yard, got an ax and struck him. Shorty then declares he went to his room and, returning with a revolver, fired four times at Pierce, all the shots taking effect. One lodged in the arms, one in the right hand and one in the hip. Shorty was also cut about the head.

Lieut. Charles Bostwick inspected the house and found a loaded revolver in Shorty's room. He accused Sadie Arnold of reloading the revolver, whereupon the woman became abusive and was arrested. Pierce's wounds may prove fatal.

SHERIFF'S WIFE STOPS ESCAPING PRISONERS

PARIS, ILL., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Summers, wife of the sheriff, today prevented an escape of prisoners during the absence of her husband. Frank Adams and Bert Check of Terre Haute, in jail for burglary, soaked the cots with gasoline used for disinfecting purposes and set fire to the bunks. The blaze caused much excitement, but Mrs. Summers quickly locked the outside doors and marched the escaping men back to their cells.

INJUNCTION GRANTED IN KING LAND CASE

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—There was another turn in the celebrated King land case here last evening when Judge Doolittle of the circuit court issued an injunction preventing the cutting of timber by eastern capitalists from the celebrated 500,000-acre survey, which has been in controversy for 12 years. The syndicate has several hundred wood choppers in that region.

FOUR PERSONS INJURED IN OKLAHOMA TORNADO

GUTHRIE, OKLA., Sept. 13.—A tornado near Bloomington, in Southwestern Oklahoma, has done extensive damage. The residence of Mrs. Sarah Carter was destroyed, the woman and her eldest daughter being severely hurt. Two children were injured by being blown across a barb wire fence. Many farm buildings were destroyed. A hail storm followed the tornado and did much damage to crops.

M'KINLEY MONUMENT DEDICATION AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Tomorrow with a naval, civil and military demonstration occupying nearly the entire day, will occur the unveiling of the magnificent bronze statue of McKinley, just completed by Sculptor Weinert of New York. Senator Hanna will be the chairman of the day and the principal address will be delivered by Senator Fairbanks of Indiana.

GRAY HAIR TRANSFORMED BY X-RAY MAGIC

RICHMOND, IND., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Dr. K. D. Hawley of Columbus, by the use of X-rays, has been able to restore to its natural color, hair that has become gray. Henry Palmer had been taking X-ray treatment for cancer several hundred exposures were made on the diseased lip and finally the cancer was removed. Mr. Palmer now notices that the portion of the beard exposed to the rays, which while has become its natural color. Hawley is also making gray hair until he gave himself the same treatment.

Vandergrift Church Dedicated.

VANDERGRIFT, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The new St. Paul's Lutheran church of Vandergrift Heights was dedicated today and about 600 persons were present at the ceremony. The new pipe organ which was presented to the church by George G. McMurty of New York, was also dedicated. The dedicatory sermons for the organ were preached by the Rev. E. P. Nicholas of Bellevue, and the Rev. Milton F. L. McLibut of Apollo. The church is built of stone and brick, and cost, including the organ and lot, $14,500.

HEATH SUMMONED TO THE CAPITAL

Former Postal Official Will Be Asked About Recent Scandal.

NAME HAS BEEN FREELY USED

Postoffice Inspectors Instead of Grand Jury Will Conduct Examination. Machen's Bond Will Be Largely Increased.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.

Dispatches from Chicago announcing that Perry S. Heath, former assistant postmaster general, is now on his way to this city, caused something of a sensation here today, as it is not believed that he would come to Washington at this time had he not been summoned. It is rumored that he will appear before postoffice inspectors to tell what he knows of the scandals in the postoffice department.

William E. Cochran, chief of postoffice inspectors, refused to discuss Mr. Heath's visit to this city. It is known that Mr. Heath has not been called to Washington to appear before the grand jury. The free use of Mr. Heath's name in connection with the contracts with the Postal Device and Improvement Company of San Francisco is supposed to have been responsible for his trip to Washington.

August W. Machen's bond will doubtless be increased to $30,000, and possibly to $40,000. The additional indictments against the former superintendent of free delivery are of such a serious nature that District court officials and the department of justice are not satisfied with his bond and are said to have practically agreed to call upon him for additional surety.

Postmaster General Payne left this matter entirely in the hands of the department of justice. It is likely that the rearrest of Machen will be made for the purpose of bringing about an increased amount of bond. Postmaster General Payne has just decided that all rural free delivery routes now established will be continued, including those which do not serve 100 patrons.

STORM IN FLORIDA

Many Vessels Wrecked and All Communication Severed by Hurricane.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Jacksonville has been cut off from southern and east Florida points by wire for 30 hours, caused by the severe storm in that section. It is reported there are three steamers and five schooners ashore at Fort Lauderdale, 25 miles north of Miami. A number of bodies have been washed ashore, indicating wrecks. Buildings at Lemon City, Miami and other points on the east coast were blown down.

In Dade county it is reported that much damage has been done to the fruit.

The hurricane seemed to strike right across the peninsula, striking the orange belt and hitting Tampa on the west coast. There, it is rumored tonight, great damage was done.

It is impossible to verify this report, as no wire communication has been had save in snatches, and no likelihood of any tonight. Here in Jacksonville no damage was done, though the storm raged hard for 26 hours.

THREE MEN IN A DUEL

Sheriff Kills His Slayer While Lying on the Ground Fatally Wounded.

EDNA, TEX., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—A man known here as Marcus Cagle of Philadelphia, but shown by papers on his body to be W. T. Landers of Atlanta, Ga., today killed Sheriff Wharton and Deputy Brough and was himself shot to death by the dying sheriff, who put four bullets into the head of Cagle, killing him instantly while he himself lay dying.

Cagle made an effort at Victoria to draw money on a bogus draft he had deposited, purporting to be from a bank at Portsmouth. He was arrested here by the sheriff and deputy and taken to the jail to be locked up. But after he arrived at the jail he drew a revolver and the fight was on. The sheriff got his gun out after he had been struck twice, and killed Cagle. Wharton leaves a family of 10 children.

THREE PERSONS INJURED IN A BIG FOUR WRECK

LAWRENCEBURG, IND., Sept. 13.—A Big Four combination train running between Aurora and Lawrenceburg Junction collided with a freight car projecting from a switch at the junction this evening, demolishing the cab on the engine and seriously injuring two passengers and one of the crew. Engineer John Moran of Lawrenceburg had his shoulder dislocated and arm fractured; Edmund Matthews, Big Four agent at Wellsburg, Ind., was badly injured about the legs; Louis Kaier, a farmer, was cut and received contusions about the head.

INVENTOR MARCONI DINES WITH LORD MINTO

OTTAWA, ONT., Sept. 13.—Signor Marconi, who has been in the city for the past two days, had a dinner this evening with Lord Minto at Ridead hall. Marconi interviewed Minister Fielding and some of the other ministers. He expects to start an overland system as soon as he has had his trans-Atlantic system in working order.

Shot Dead by a Doctor.

OPELOUSAS, LA., Sept. 13.—Dr. A. B. Harmanson shot and killed Charles Medecis this morning, using a Winchester rifle. Medecis was passing on the street when the fatal shot was fired, he being unarmed. Dr. Harmanson surrendered to the sheriff. He claims that Medecis is the author of several anonymous letters attacking the reputation of members of his family. Medecis was prominent, as is Dr. Harmanson.

TWO MET DEATH IN THE RIVERS

Youths Who Sought Relief from the Excessive Heat, Drowned While Bathing.

TWO VICTIMS OF A CAVE-IN

Tragedy in the Greentree Tunnel of the Wabash Railroad—Searching for One Body—Investigation into the McKeesport Homicide.

Two youths were drowned in the local rivers yesterday. One fell from the bank into the water and the other became exhausted while bathing. James McNamee, 14 years old, of Greenfield avenue and Lydia street, was drowned yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock in the Monongahela river at Hazelwood. McNamee was standing on the bank of the river and fell in. He sank immediately. The body was recovered about 5:30 last night.

Bernat Treypala, aged 21, of Schoenville, was drowned in the Ohio river at that place at 4 o'clock. He swam into deep water, became exhausted and sank. His body was recovered an hour later.

The caving in of tons of earth in the Greentree tunnel of the Wabash railroad about 10 o'clock Saturday night cost the life of Marte Pescho, an Italian, 19 years old, who was at work in the shaft. It is possible that another workman was lost, as he is reported missing. A dozen men narrowly escaped death. Deputy Coroner James Laughran investigated the accident yesterday. He did not set a time for the inquest, owing to the possibility of the recovery of a second body. Pescho was taken from the piles of earth a short time after the fall. Death was instantaneous.

Donata Tomara, an Italian, of Thirty-third street, was instantly killed by a fast passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Twenty-eighth street at noon yesterday. He was walking on the track carrying a watermelon on his shoulder and failed to notice or hear the train. He was married and 40 years old.

Deputy Coroner John Block made an investigation yesterday into the death of William Bliss, a tin mill heater, who was killed at McKeesport on Saturday night. He held Charles Groggins, John Miles and William Davis until the inquest is held this afternoon. Charles Miles, the father of John, F. K. Thomas and William Fletcher, who had been arrested, were released on their own recognizance. The men named were with Bliss. It was said, and were discussing the strike at the tin mill at Port Vue, where Bliss and some of the others had worked before the strike. While standing at Eleventh and Walnut streets Bliss is said to have declared that he had a wife and family to support and meant to return to work. Groggins, it is alleged, struck him for the remark, and Bliss, being very much intoxicated, fell into the street. When picked up his neck was found to be broken. Dr. N. C. Rankin, who held a post-mortem examination, said he did not find the mark of any blow on his body. Bliss' wife told the deputy coroner that Groggins was a good friend of her husband's and was a frequent visitor at the house and that they never quarreled. Bliss was 42 years old.

Stabbed to Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Luigs Mauron, also known as Ratto, an Italian, died at a hospital tonight 20 minutes after he had been admitted, with a stab wound in the back, inflicted, it is said, by Teodinanto Mansisco, a fellow countryman. Mansisco was locked up. The affair was the result of a quarrel over money involved in a game of cards.

SIR THOMAS LEFT OFF DINNER LIST

President Exacts Promise That Yacht Club Function Be Private.

LOEB STATES THE REASONS

President Having Received Many Invitations to Formal Functions Felt Obliged to Decline Unless No One But Members of the Club Was Invited.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 13.—In a statement made at the executive office here tonight William Loeb, Jr., secretary to President Roosevelt, admitted that the president had accepted an invitation to attend the annual dinner of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club on the condition that none but members were to be present.

Mr. Loeb explained that at Sagamore Hill it was thought that the president had extended sufficient courtesies to Sir Thomas. He had entertained him at the White House and also aboard the Mayflower during the review of the North Atlantic fleet. On account of having declined numerous invitations to formal functions the president feared the presence of Sir Thomas and his party would give the affair this appearance and thus offend those whose invitations he had previously declined.

"Mr. Colgate Hoyt," continued the president's secretary, "called to see Mr. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill on Friday. He invited him to attend the banquet to be given by the Ohio Society of New York during the winter. The president decided that he would be unable to be present at the dinner. Mr. Hoyt then invited him to be present at the annual dinner of the yacht club. The president expressed the hope that the club would only have a small, dinner party—a highborly affair. Mr Hoyt assured him that the club would observe his wishes in the matter. Mr. Roosevelt thereupon gave a conditional acceptance to the invitation."

Today at the club house of the Seawanhaka organization on Center Island, Secretary Francis B. Stewart of New York felt inclined to assume a part of the blame for the unpleasantness which has developed. He said that at the New York Yacht club a few nights ago he had asked Sir Thomas Lipton if he had an engagement for the 15th inst. Being assured that he had not, Secretary Stewart then requested Sir Thomas to hold that date open, in order that he might attend the Seawanhaka dinner. He pointed out that a rule of the club permitted a member of the organization to invite one guest to attend the club dinners. His invitation to Sir Thomas was extended as a member and not on behalf of the club.

KILNMEN WILL STRIKE.

Demand Better Pay for Work for the Federal Government.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—On account of the small price Uncle Sam allows for tableware, 250 kilnmen will strike at the International pottery tomorrow morning. When this concern secured the government contract the workmen decided that they must have 40 per cent increase in the price they were getting for making the ware because of the rigid government specifications.

Conference with the bosses resulted in the demands being lowered to 25 per cent. On account of the quality of ware demands by the government the bosses cannot meet these demands and the kilnmen will go on strike tomorrow backed by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

CRUISER STILL FAST.

Maryland Clings to Ways Despite Efforts to Dislodge Her.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The cruiser Maryland, which was launched at the shipyard yesterday and struck at the foot of the ways before entirely taking to water, is still hard and fast and it cannot be said when the monster hull will be floated. The shipyard force will go to work on the cruiser again at high water about midnight. It is understood that tugs will be used in an effort to push the ship off the ways. Several tugs will be on hand to give any assistance needed.

Shipyard men are still hopeful of floating the cruiser without any damage resulting. No risk will be taken and every effort will be made to prevent straining.

MUST HAVE BEEN A HOT-AIRSHIP

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—A torpedo-shaped airship, about 90 feet long, and containing two men, passed over Indianapolis this afternoon. It came from the northwest, circled over the southern part of the city at a height of 100 feet, and disappeared in an easterly direction. Several hundred people watched it, many of them with field glasses.

NOTED AUTHORESS DIES IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sherwood Ends Long and Brilliant Career.

FAMOUS MEN HER FRIENDS

Was a Notable Beauty and Wit in Anti-Bellum Days—Statesmen and Diplomats Once Paid Court to Her at the National Capital.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wilson Sherwood, noted as a writer and leader of New York society a generation ago, died suddenly in the Majestic hotel at 11 o'clock Saturday evening. She was 80 years old and had been an invalid for 10 years. Samuel Sherwood of Delhi, N. Y., and Arthur M. Sherwood, a stock broker, her sons, arrived in New York last night. Interment will probably be at Delhi, where her husband is buried. He was James Sherwood, a prominent New York lawyer, who died seven years ago.

Mrs. Sherwood was a daughter of John Wilson, United States senator from New Hampshire. Miss Wilson was noted for her beauty and wit in ante-bellum days in Washington and formed friendships with statesmen and diplomats which in later years she made the subject of reminiscent writings that have found great popularity. "An Epistle to Posterity," "A Transplanted Race," and "Here, There and Everywhere" were her principal books. She also contributed constantly to magazines.

In the Windsor hotel fire Mrs. Sherwood lost probably her most valuable writings. For 25 years she had regularly corresponded with Lord Houghton, and when he and all the actors in the drama of English and continental politics during and after our civil war had passed she prepared a volume from that correspondence. Mark Twain, Secretary Hay, President Roosevelt, Senator Depew and scores of others noted in the literary field were her friends, and on her last birthday she received letters of congratulation from all those named.

FRANK A. PARKER.

WALKED OFF TRAIN ON BRIDGE

Lucky Escape from Death by a Cattle Shannon Coal Miner.

John Chelkiwita, a coal miner of Castle Shannon, 21 years old, walked off a passenger train while it stood on the Panhandle bridge over the Monongahela river at 8:30 last evening. He evidently thought the train had stopped at a station. He fell from the bridge, striking the fuse-work underneath. He was not unconscious and grasped one of the piles.

James Fleming, a boatman of the South Side, heard the man's appeals for help and rowed to the place. Chelkowita was taken ashore and removed to the South Side hospital. He was suffering from a severe scalp wound and several bad bruises about the body.

BRITISH TRANSPORT SAID TO HAVE FOUNDERED

LONDON, Sept. 14.—An unconfirmed rumor is current that a transport carrying a British regiment to India foundered in a gale which swept the British coast last Thursday.

SAILORS' MUTINY ON THE KEARSARGE AND ARE IN IRONS

Claim to Have Grievances of Long Standing and Threw Overboard Lenses of Gunsights for Revenge.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 13.—The sailors of the flagship Kearsarge which, together with the Alabama, the Texas and Illinois and the Chicago, anchored off Staten Island today, have been in a condition bordering on mutiny, it was learned today, for many weeks.

By sailors and petty officers on other ships it was said that when the Kearsarge came to anchor 120 men were imprisoned in the brig because of mutinous conduct. These men say they have renamed the flagship the "Curse-head," on account of the voluble dissatisfaction continually expressed by the crew. By this parodied cognomen the Kearsarge is known, they say, by all the other vessels of the squadron.

In the recent shooting contests during the maneuvers the gunners of the Kearsarge scored six hits out of 12 shots, the Alabama beating the record with 15 out of 1, and every other vessel of the squadron showing a first-rate average.

According to the sailors the gunners of the Kearsarge, in revenge for grievances, real or fancied, of long standing, by agreement with the crew, determined to make as poor a showing as they could. To clinch this agreement some venturesome spirits, not yet discovered, threw overboard all the lenses of the gunsights, thereby rendering expert marksmanship impossible. Several of the men on the Kearsarge verified this, though all said that they had been instructed before being allowed to go ashore not to say anything about this incident.

POPE BIDS WORKINGMEN BE SATISFIED AND HAPPY

Receives Two Thousand in Audience at the Vatican and Makes a Short Address Containing Good Advice.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Sept. 13.—The pope today held his first reception of any importance, over 2,000 persons being present in the courtyard of La Pigna. Pope Pius was attired in white, with his red hat ornamented with gold, and a magnificent pectoral cross encrusted with jewels. He was greeted with a storm of applause. The pope, raising his hand for silence, said:

"This demonstration of reverence and affection touches me, not because it is addressed to my person, but because it is addressed to Him whom I represent—Christ; it is an index to the faith animating your heart. I am all the more pleased because the majority of you are workingmen, for Christ is the advocate of the workingmen and the latter are faithful to Him."

The pontiff went on to say that the workman who is satisfied with his condition finds in it a true pleasure, shedding sweetness about him.

"These words," continued Pope Pius, "are the first that I address to the Romans. Be satisfied with your condition, provide education for your children, and I assure you in the name of the Holy Ghost that the blessing of God which I so much invoke for you and your families will be given."

THOUSANDS HONORED MEMORY OF BARRY

Anniversary Services on America's First Commodore Held in Philadelphia.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Over 2,000 voices blended in a mighty chorus tonight in honor of the memory of America's first commodore. The ceremony, under the auspices of the Philadelphia chapter, Knights of Columbus, was to mark the 100th anniversary of the death of Commodore John Barry, whose deeds at sea when the nation was struggling for freedom sent a note around the world that told of a new power that must be reckoned with.

There was not an inch of spare space in the Grand opera house when Chairman James A. Flaherty opened the proceeding by briefly alluding to the great work of the hero who was to be honored. On the stage were over 300 trained singers, under the direction of Joseph A. O'Brien, and at the conclusion of the introductory remarks they rendered "America" with splendid effect.

The veterans of Naval Post No. 400 marched down the center aisle with their blue flag and its golden stars, and the audience applauded the men of Farragut's day with a vim.

Then they caught sight of Rear Admirals Clark and Sigsbee, heading a party of naval men of today, and then too were applauded. Both rear admirals were called on for speeches after Michael J. Ryan had thanked an address on the commodore's career. Rear Admiral Sigsbee was witty and reminiscent, and as he told of some doings of the old navy and the men the veterans roared with laughter.

Rear Admiral Clark apologized for his inability to make a speech, but somebody announced that he can fight, to which the Oregon's old chief simply said: "Well, so can I, Barry."

When the time for the conclusion of the ceremonies came the entire audience arose with the first notes of the "Star-Spangled Banner," and if there was anyone who did not sing no exception was noticed.

ACTRESS ASSERTS SHE IS BOOTH'S DAUGHTER

Claims Oklahoma Estate of Man Said to Be Assassin of Lincoln.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOUND BROOK, N. J., Sept. 13.—Laura Ida Booth, an actress of Bound Brook, has made up her mind that she is the daughter of John Wilkes Booth; that Booth was not killed after the murder of President Lincoln, and that he married the widow of a Kentucky mountaineer in the early '70's. More than that, Miss Booth is ready to believe that David E. George, who died at Enid, Oklahoma, in April of this year, was John Wilkes Booth. George, according to Miss Booth, left an estate of several hundred thousand dollars, a will as yet unopened, and no known relatives. George's neighbors, it is said, were certain that he was Booth. Miss Booth went to New York City last week armed with the certificate of her mother's marriage to a John W. Booth and other papers to support her claim.

She showed them to a theatrical manager, who was so much impressed that he summoned a lawyer, who is prepared to present the claims of the alleged daughter of John Wilkes Booth to the property of David E. George. The lawyer wrote to Probate Judge Garber of Enid, asking about George's disposal of his property and got a reply yesterday saying that George left a will, still unopened, and that W. J. Penniman had been appointed as administrator.

"There is one strange thing about the case which lends support to our contention," said the lawyer. "The property man of the Laura Keene Company, who opened the window for Booth to escape after he shot Lincoln, is now living in Enid."

MRS. M'KINLEY RECEIVES MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Floral tributes were received at the McKinley home today from a number of friends of Mrs. McKinley and from people of whom she had never before heard. The pieces came in recognition of the second anniversary of the death of President McKinley, which is on Monday. Mrs. McKinley has arranged to go to Westlawn cemetery tomorrow and place floral pieces on the late president's casket in the vault. Numerous other tributes are expected tomorrow and all will be sent to the tomb.

EXCITING STEAMER RACE IN THE DETROIT RIVER

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—The steamer Frank E. Kirby, plying between this port and Put-in-Bay, defeated the new steamer Columbia in a most exciting race over a 20-mile course on the Detroit river today. The race was from this city to the Lime Kiln crossing down the river, and the Kirby succeeded in winning the race by a good half mile. The contest has determined the speed qualities of the two boats, which had been in dispute ever since the Columbia was placed in commission.

GREEK PRIEST CAUSES CHURCH MEMBERS' ARREST

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Factions in the Greek Catholic church here are in a tangled condition. Two of the members, Andy Robin and Paul Mizruak, have been arrested on warrants sworn to by the pastor, the Rev. W. Volensky, charging them with disturbance. It is claimed that when a meeting was called to vote the priest out of office there was a riot. The two men claim the priest is an immoderate drinker, and is seldom able to take care of the affairs of his parish.

WANAMAKER GOES ON TRIAL TODAY

Slander Suit Brought by Thomas Robinson Will Be Called in Beaver Courts.

DEFENDANT MAY NOT COME

His Counsel Have Arrived from Philadelphia, but the Former Postmaster General Has Not Put in an Appearance.

John Wanamaker is to figure as a defendant in a slander suit to be put on trial in the Beaver county courts today. The prosecutor is Thomas Robinson of Butler, former state superintendent of public printing.

The former postmaster general did not come to Pittsburgh last night with his counsel, ex-Judge James Gay Gordon and Charles H. Bergner. While nothing definite is known about the intention of the Philadelphian, it was reported last night that he would not appear at Beaver today.

The case grew out of an utterance of Wanamaker's during the gubernatorial campaign of 1898. In a speech at Williamsburg, Dauphin county, Wanamaker is alleged to have slandered Robinson, then superintendent of public printing. His speech was in reference to the publication of the "Bird Book" at a cost of $54,000.

Some days later Wanamaker appeared in Beaver and Robinson had the papers served on him there. The case was not called for trial until December, 1900. After several witnesses had been heard, Attorneys Gordon and Bergner petitioned for a non-suit, which Judge J. Sharpe Wilson granted. A year later counsel for Robinson secured an order reopening the case. It has been postponed from time to time, but is scheduled for trial today.

Judge Gordon and Charles H. Bergner arrived in Pittsburgh last night and are stopping at Hotel Duquesne. J. Rankin Marsh of Beaver Falls will be associated with them as counsel for Wanamaker. Dr. S. H. Warren, who was one of the authors of the bird book, is also here. He will be one of the witnesses in the case. George M. Wanbaugh and Thomas M. Jones, Harrisburg newspaper correspondents, have been summoned to testify. Other witnesses will be Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth T. W. Beitler, Col. Wilbur F. Reeder of Bellefonte, deputy attorney general under Governor Hastings; Thomas J. Bell, chief clerk to the superintendent of public printing; J. W. Hutchinson and Milton H. Plank.

Mr. Robinson will be represented by R. S. Holt and W. S. Moore of Beaver, and Leo McQuiston of Butler.

DELAY IN BUILDING CITIZENS PLATFORM

County Candidates Will Have to Continue to Stand in the Political Mind.

No platform has been erected for the Citizens party candidates and they are still standing in the "mud," Secretary James W. Clark said yesterday that he thought a declaration of principles would be prepared in time for commencement at the first big meeting of the campaign. He does not know when this event will occur.

While the Republican state nominees were indorsed by the Citizens last Tuesday, they have not been officially notified of the fact. Secretary Clark says that the method of notification has not been agreed upon. Last year a committee was sent to personally inform the candidates.

The Citizens are supposed to dispose of the Eleventh and Fourteenth ward contests this week. According to the leaders, the evidence taken in the Eleventh ward case is against the Hemmingway-Philips faction. This means that the Shore-Lamb crowd is to be recognized. The bosses also favor the Fourteenth ward organization headed by Capt. E. H. Breck and expect to be able to make the W. J. Moore-Stevenson faction follow the leadership of Breck. The latter crowd is to hold a meeting at the Bellefield school tomorrow night at which there will be announcement made of the policy to be pursued. Stevenson and Moore will not agree to take orders from Breck.

MEANT TO LEAVE COUNTRY.

Italian Arrested in Connection With the Shooting of William Hooper.

Mike Grdoleno, 20 years old, of Moller street, near Wheeler, was arrested last night on the charge of being implicated in the shooting of William Hooper last Monday. Hooper was shot by Joseph Anthony, who is held for court.

Grdoleno, it is alleged, held back with a shotgun the two brothers of William Hooper who attempted to catch the Italians after the shooting. Grdoleno escaped and went to New York. He returned yesterday and was making preparations to leave the country when arrested. George Tutelo was with Grdoleno and he was arrested also. The men will be given a hearing this morning. Hooper is still confined to the East End hospital, but will recover.

DIRECTOR WAS DISTURBED.

Telephoned to a Police Station When the Fight Began.

Safety Director Harry Moore objects to having his Sabbath calm disturbed. When a general fight started last evening in Musser hall, head of South Twelfth street, Allentown, opposite the director's home, he telephoned to the South Side police station.

Five policemen, in charge of Officer Con Sullivan, went to the place and made a raid. About 35 people were in the hall, but there were so many exits that they could not all be captured. John Barnhard, the proprietor, and 12 visitors were arrested. The hall has been running for years and this is the first trouble the management has ever had with the police.

NIGGI LIKELY TO DIE.

Three of the Men Arrested for the Shooting Have Been Released.

John Niggi, the Pole who was shot in the face early Saturday morning by some unknown person, is still lying at the South Side hospital in a critical condition. Niggi's wife was at the hospital yesterday and said her husband was shot by a crowd of men who were fighting among themselves and not with a crowd he was with.

Seven men were arrested Saturday but yesterday three of them were released. The other four men were held. They are Andy Rogek, John Tolo and Mike and Louis Leptotou.

Want to Join Wilkinsburg.

It probably will be but a short time until Sterrett township will become a part of Wilkinsburg. Not many months ago a portion of the township was annexed to the borough, and now those residing in the other section are anxious to come in. Several prominent citizens have started the movement for annexation, and it is intended to circulate petitions for signatures to present to the Wilkinsburg council. Wilkinsburg councilmen favor the project.

TO STOP FEUDS BY PREACHING

Salvation Army Will Invade Breathitt County, Ky., With Bible and Song.

OFFICERS LEFT LAST NIGHT

Col. Holz Says Mountaineers Are Ignorant and Need to Be Christianized. Capt. White and Envoy Zell Go from Pittsburgh—Hopeful of Success.

Kentucky feuds, their origin, scope and peculiarities, will be made a special study by the Salvation army with a view of stopping this disastrous form of life-taking and the gospel will be carried by the army into the heart of Breathitt county. A party of officers, headed by Col. Richard E. Holz of Cleveland, left here last night for Kentucky to investigate the conditions. Col. Holz was joined here by Capt. Edwy White and Ensign Zell of the Pittsburgh barracks. At Cincinnati several other officers will join the party. Col. Holz said last night:

"Our object is to carry Christianity to the mountaineers of the southern states that will be visited. These people are practically without Christianity. We feel that we should get in touch with these mountain people—have a band of our salvationists visit them personally and try our methods on them. We hardly know how to get at them, and that is the purpose of our coming trip. We will feel our way and study the situation thoroughly.

"We are hopeful that the methods of the Salvation army will prove just the thing to awaken these peculiar people and bring them out of their present condition. I can only say that we are hopeful; our methods may not work at all. The coming trip will tell the tale."

The full itinerary of the trip is as follows: Cincinnati, September 14; Jackson, Breathitt county, Ky., September 15 and 16; Saylerville, Magoffin county, Ky., September 17; Prestonburg, Floyd coun, Ky., September 18; Pikesville, Pike county, Ky., September 19 and 20; Hindman, Knott county, Ky., September 21; Hazard, Perry county, Ky., September 22; Whitesburg, Letcher county, Ky., September 23; Wise Courthouse, Va., September 24; Norton, Va., September 25; Bristol, Tenn., September 26 and 27; Knoxville, Tenn., September 28 and 29.

PUT UP A HARD FIGHT FOR PRICE OF THE TOBIES

Hock Reynolds, a driver for J. J. Sharp & Everyman, was arrested after a fierce struggle with Capt. H. W. Teeters of the East End police last night. Reynolds purchased some tobies in the store of Dominic Filoso, No. 125 Frankstown avenue, and, it is alleged, refused to pay them. Policeman S. S. McCain was called and held the horse and buggy, in which Reynolds tried to escape. Capt. Teeters arrived at this time and took Reynolds from the buggy, which he did after a struggle. Reynolds fought in the police station and smashed a big ground glass window in the police inspector's office. He was subdued and placed in a cell.

WILKINSBURG MAY BUILD UP-TO-DATE MARKET HOUSE

Wilkinsburg business men want an up-to-date market house. The matter has been canvassed by those interested and if they succeed, the institution will be started next spring. A company to undertake the project is now in process of organization. A market is badly needed in the borough, and it is thought by the backers, will be a paying investment.

C. T. A. U. Meeting.

At a meeting of the Catholic Total Abstinence union in Duquesne hall, Penn avenue, yesterday, addresses were made by President John J. Maloney, John J. O'Brien, John F. Joyce, Charles D. McShane and others and several persons took the pledge. It was decided that the societies should go direct to the exposition Thursday night from their own halls.

Mrs. Saydle Is Missing.

Harry Saydle of Fisk street, Allegheny, notified the North Side police last night that his wife, Geneva, aged 38 years, has been missing since 8 o'clock Saturday morning. He says she left home at that hour to go to a store and has not returned. They have three small children and he knows no reason why she should leave and stay away from home.

Freight Wreck Near South Fork.

A freight wreck occurred yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at South Fork, on the Pennsylvania railroad. The division was tied up for several hours. While the freight was going 30 miles an hour a Box car jumped the track, throwing off seven others, loaded with coke. The wreck delayed the limited nearly two hours.

Attributed to Spontaneous Combustion.

Another car of hay was burned yesterday noon on the grain side track of the Pittsburgh & Western road, South avenue. Spontaneous combustion is the supposed cause of the fire. This makes about 20 cars of hay that have been burned in the same way on the same track within the past year.

Sheraden Firemen Reorganize.

At the reorganization of the Central hose company No. 2, Sheraden, the following officers were elected: President, Bernard Little, Jr.; secretary and treasurer, W. J. Wilke; captain, Victor Gerst; lieutenant, J. R. Hana. The organization now has an enrollment of over 40 members.

Son Used Flat-Iron on Father.

Edward Diebold, Sr., went to the South Side hospital yesterday afternoon with a broken nose. He had a quarrel with his son Edward and was struck in the face with a flat iron at their home, No. 2112 Wrights alley. The police are looking for the son, who escaped after the trouble.

Recovering from Shot Wound.

The condition of Adolph Batz, who was shot by Tony Luti near the South Twenty-second street bridge, Saturday night, was reported good by the Mercy hospital authorities. Besides Luti, five spectators are held as witnesses.

Stop tearing your throat! One dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

New Velvets and Velveteens.

One of the loveliest velvets women ever set eyes on is to be seen in our Velvet Department, and we frankly admit being incapable of writing a proper description. This new velvet has a superb black ground and over that black ground, at irregular intervals, are the most exquisite roses that loom-art can produce. These roses are as true to Nature as simulation can be. They are not roses of vivid hues, but of soft greenish tints and other tints like those produced where the sun strikes a certain mellow color. For the costume elegant this superb velvet will commend itself on first sight. The price is $8 a yard.

New Velutinas in pastel colorings, having a Mousseline finish, used principally for evening gowns, $1 a yard.

New Velutinas in corduroy effects, this effect being produced by a small cord with a mousseline finish—24 inches wide—$1.50 a yard. This Velutina is guaranteed not to crock.

New plain black Velour du Nord, the favorite material for cloaks and all other wraps, 28 inches wide, $1.98 a yard for $2.50 grade.

Large variety of new Velutinas in those pretty small effects in shades of gun metal and other leading Fall colorings, 75c and $1 a yard.

New Walking Skirts.

New Walking Skirts here from $5 up to $20, new Dress Skirts from $5 up to $60. That range of prices means that every material used in skirts is to be found. Two exceptional numbers in Walking Skirts:

$10. New Walking Skirts of canvas cloth, gun metal shades, made of 7-gore flare, strapped yoke, habit back.

Women's New Coats for Autumn.

Late Saturday afternoon a line of new Black Zibeline Coats came in, loose effect, fancy sleeve, stole collar; body, back and front trimmed with Van Dyke points of stitched black broadcloth edged with black cord; lined throughout with black satin. You will hardly believe it, but we have marked these splendid Autumn coats only $22.

New light Tan Coats, half length, fitted back, lined throughout with self colored taffeta, 32 to 40 inches, the price $12.50.

New dark and medium Covert Cloth Coats, tight fitting and fly front styles, various finishes, such lengths as 30, 35, 40 and 45 inches, prices from $25 to $48.

New and Inexpensive Handkerchiefs.

All sorts of wonderful things going on in this store, not the least of which is how we can send our buyer to Belfast for Handkerchiefs, bring them over here, pay to the agent of Uncle Sam his duty, and yet sell these good Handkerchiefs for such small prices. Come to think of it, it is not so wonderful after all—we bring them over by the thousands and thousands of dozens. Here's proof of our low prices—

Women's pure Linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, variety of dainty embroidered effects, and we charge you only 12½c for them.

For 18c—3 for 50c—Handkerchiefs of Belfast linen, designs of which are copied after the new French ideas for Autumn. Really an improvement on the French style, and not so much to pay.

Another good Handkerchief for 18c—2 for 50c really a 38c value—is a Belfast Handkerchief of sheer linen with a revered, or spoked, hem.

For variety in the inexpensive line of Handkerchiefs there are plain hemstitched linen Handkerchiefs in both sheer and heavy cloths—all fine values for the different prices—8c, 10c, 12½c, 16c, 25c, 35c and 50c.

For Handkerchiefs with exquisite fancy touches, such as embroidery and lace, used in many different ways, new ideas are coming in every day, and the price range is from 25c each up to $35.

Inexpensive Table Linens.

Because they're inexpensive don't conclude they did not come from where best linens are made, Ireland. It is by going over there and purchasing in immense quantities that we are enabled to retail such good linens for such little money.

50c a yard for 60c and 65c grades of 62 and 64 inch Bleached Table Damask.

65c a yard for 75c and 85c grades of 66 and 68 inch Bleached Table Damask.

$1 a yard for $1.25 grade of 72 inch Bleached Table Damask, which is extra heavy.

And this Linen news is concluded with an offer of 18-inch Silver Crash, regularly 12½c, for 10c a yard.

Monday's Usual Budget of Silk News

No gaps get in the great collection of Autumn Silks, although every day sees hundreds and hundreds of yards disappear. But you must know New Silks are walking in—foreigners as well as Americans—just as fast as they are walking out. Among the new things for presentation this morning are

In Colored Silks—

A very fine grade of new Taffeta, sombre effects with small dots. The price is $3 a yard.

New plain Taffeta Mousseline, a lovely silk with very soft finish and high luster, $1.25 a yard.

Three different styles in new Taffeta Meteore Paconne, represented by all the leading color tints, $2.50 a yard.

New Louisine Ecossaise—a striking plaid effect in evening shades, with printed rosebuds, $2.50 and $3 a yard.

New arrivals of those favorite Pompadour Silks, new designs, new colorings, $1.50 and up to $3.

As something very special today we announce a 19-inch wide White Taffeta, worth 75c, for the small price of 63c a yard. This silk is so free from oil and an attempt at dyeing that we are enabled to guarantee it not to split.

In Black Silks—

New Black Grenadines, different figures, double width, $2.50, $3 and $3.50 a yard.

New Black Crepes in such new weaves as Crepe Brilliantine, Crepe Marquisette, Crepe Princess, Crepe Meteore and Clair du Lune—double width—from $2.25 up to $5.50.

As a special in Black Crepe de Chine, of double width and an extra good black, a $1.65 grade is quoted for today at $1.35 a yard.

We also announce a 19 inch wide Black Taffeta, yarn dyed, good black, guaranteed to wear, soft, rustling finish, 50c grade for 39c a yard.

Kaiser Wilhelm, fresh from the maneuvers and sham battles, declares his army is ready to fight anything at once. To be sure he added that he and the army do not want to fight and are not looking for trouble, but if trouble appeared they could fight at the drop of the hat. No doubt. Almost anybody's army can do that. Even the half-starved Turks went at it on short notice. But the army that can win is the one with the good commissariat. The kaiser's men can fight, but it would keep Germany busy to feed them six months away from home. And that is what is making for the peace of the world—the uncertainty of a food line half around the world.

Finally a recommendation has been made for the introduction of the steam turbine in the American navy. Admiral Rowles proposes the construction of two scout boats at a cost of about $1,000,000 each to be equipped with the rotary engine. The recommendation is a good one. The speed of the turbine boat has been thoroughly tested by the British government in several ill-fated torpedo boat destroyers and the results make it certain that nothing could be better adapted to a scout ship. In addition to marvelous speed the turbine is economical in coal consumption, so the steaming radius should be greater, for any given bunker capacity, than for a boat of the same class equipped with reciprocating engines.

Minister Conger reports from Peking that Russia has asked the Chinese government for a little more time in which to complete the evacuation of Manchuria. The extension of time asked effects the borderland of Manchuria next to Siberia, and there is no apparent reason why the request should not be granted. Japan is somewhat agitated over the proposed delay and it is probably not altogether agreeable to Great Britain, but there is no cause for uneasiness in the United States. American trade is not suffering by the military occupation of Manchuria and the American government is only concerned for the ratification of the promise that two ports of Manchuria shall be opened next month. The American interest is one of commercial privileges, not of territory.

Gov. J. C. Beckham of Kentucky has been prodigal in his use of the pardoning power to liberate his political friends whose lack of probity earned for them accommodations behind prison bars. The principal requisite in any plea for pardon during Gov. Beckham's term has been to make it plain that the convict's Democracy was sound and orthodox. Naturally, this fact figures in the Kentucky campaign, and the political pardons promise to be a source of weakness rather than strength. Friends of the released prisoners cannot be expected to work as hard for reward in hand as they would for reward expected, while on the other hand, their victims, the friends of their victims and the decent element generally resent the prostitution of the pardoning power.

Ireland has an Anti-Emigration society whose aim is to prevent the Irish exodus to foreign lands, principally to America. This society has asked the Irishmen in America to help its work by no longer sending steamship tickets to the old country, so enabling their friends and relatives to leave. It may be more patriotic to starve at home than to thrive abroad, but the average Irishman is like Bismarck in one respect, that his patriotism stops where his stomach begins. Until conditions in Ireland are so changed that the Irishman can make a living there, it is of no use to compel him to remain. The land purchase bill may get the desired revolution by giving Ireland back to the Irish, keep the Irish in Ireland and do away with the need for charity from America, of which the least objectionable form is embodied in free steamship tickets.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is reported to have set his face resolutely against war with Turkey. He is probably inspired to that attitude by his great and good friend Russia, who desires to keep the peace of Europe. It may be, however, that Prince Ferdinand is not master of the situation. He is not popular with his subjects and many of them want war and they want it at once. Macedonia is being drenched with the blood of Bulgars and other non-Mohammedans who have resided in the villages sacked by the Turks. If Prince Ferdinand was so opposed to war he might have shown his peaceful nature to better advantage had he exerted his power to prevent the agitation carried on along the border of his territory for years with the purpose of provoking the Turk to the present slaughter. The Macedonian insurrection was hatched in Bulgaria. Bulgaria helped incite the Turk to his fiendish work and it is not especially creditable to it now to refuse assistance to the hard-pressed insurgents.

There is a report in circulation that the Pennsylvania railroad may buy the properties of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. This is denied by President Reed of the Philadelphia company. With that statement the rumor may be dismissed for the present. Considering the subject in the abstract it is not difficult to understand that the trolley systems and railroads might be operated together to the advantage of both and with some incidental advantages to the public. The principal among the latter would be better accommodations on the street cars and probably better roadbed and equipment for the suburban lines. On the other hand there might be disadvantages. One that readily suggests itself is the discharge of suburban passengers for the downtown district at the new East Liberty station with an extra fare and a slow trolley ride to destination. There would be no competition, of course, but that now amounts to nothing in as far as the quality of the service is concerned. On that point one might really expect an improvement under combined management.

Panama's Proposal.

Minister Beaupre has finally communicated to the state department the terms of the bill proposed in the Colombian congress as a substitute for the Hay-Herran treaty. The official text agrees with the abstract furnished several days ago by the Associated Press, and the delay in its transmission partly confirms the prevalent belief that Mr. Beaupre's letters and dispatches are purposely delayed in transmission. The bill itself is outrageous in its demands and will most certainly never be accepted by the United States. It proposes to extort $20,000,000 from the United States and $10,000,000 more from the canal company for the privilege of making a transfer of its property. Then it demands a rental of $150,000 a year for the first 100 years and after that a rerating at an advance of 25 per cent for each succeeding 100 years.

There can be but one conclusion. The Colombian senators want to be bribed. The old Panama Canal Company was born in sin and proceeded in iniquity. Of the vast sums filched from the French stockholders some part must have found its way into official pockets for doubtful favors. The United States is much richer than the old Panama company and the present day officials have no more active consciences than their predecessors. They are evidently impressed by the possible opportunities for loot and are trying to make the most of them.

In this case the Colombian politicians are utterly mistaken. The United States is rich, it is true. It has millions to spend upon enterprises for the benefit of its commerce. It has, too, "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Not one cent for corrupt influence. The United States has made to Colombia a fair business proposition, and if that is not accepted it will either look elsewhere for a canal site, wait for Colombia to drop the graft, or proceed in other honorable ways to get what it wants.

Russia's Troubles.

The resignation of Gen. Dragomiroff brings to light the acuteness of the struggle going on in Russia between the progressiveists and the reactionaries. This struggle is no new thing. There was a glimpse of it when Count Tolstoy was excommunicated from the orthodox church, and another glimpse was given in connection with the Kishineff massacre last spring. The students' riots and labor disturbances have all along indicated it to those well informed on Russian affairs, and the correspondence of von Plehwe in particular has admitted it.

It must be said for Czar Nicholas that his sympathies are with the progressives. He is desirous of the development of his empire and to that end would grant a constitution and promote education if he dared. He has gone so far as to proclaim civil and religious liberty, but his reactionary bureaucrats have nullified his proclamations.

Gen. Dragomiroff on resigning was called to the czar and frankly informed his monarch that he quit the army because he disapproved its function of killing inoffensive workmen for the crime of quitting their employment and no other. The autocrat of all the Russias sympathized with the general, but gave him to understand he was powerless to interfere. Of course, another general will be appointed who will obey his orders and kill all who have the temerity to assert independent manhood. But it is a question whether such methods can suppress the growing spirit of unrest. More likely the slaughter of workmen will foment rebellion, which is but illy conceded now. Giving orders to the governor of Bessarabia prior to the massacre at Kishineff, von Plehwe directed him to discourage violence by mild means and avoid trouble if he could, but above all, he enjoined him to not use force against the people of a province which had not yet become tainted by disloyalty to the government, as so many districts in the south had been.

Kishineff did not prevent the spread of revolutionary sentiment. On the contrary it called the attention of the world outside to conditions which threaten the very existence of the Russian empire. It is not the Jews who are disloyal to the government, though they naturally have small affection for it, but the workmen and students who have learned enough to begin to realize the enormity of Russian misgovernment. The evils of which they complain are not the autocracy, but the vile abuses of power by its agents, who cloak themselves in official authority to gratify their personal greeds, lusts and prejudices. True, they make no fine distinctions, as we do, between the nominal head of the government and its agencies of oppression. They would assassinate the czar if they had the opportunity. But the czar is really in more danger of assassination at the instigation of his conscienceless councilors of state or brutal officials of police. By every means the Russian policy seeks solidarity, but under the application of the lash its very foundations are crumbling.

Director Bigelow's Estimates.

The figures submitted by Director Bigelow in regard to the cost of sand filtration are so wildly extravagant that they seem to be the product of an intention to make the cost appear as great as possible. The cost of covering the filters is put in to swell the estimate, although the original commission, of which Mr. Bigelow was a member, and whose report he signed, found that covers would not be necessary. The consulting engineer of the commission considered in detail the question of covering the filters and concluded with the remark: "I do not regard this as necessary and do not recommend it." With this $1,000,000 disappears from Mr. Bigelow's seven million estimate.

The estimate for filter basins and appurtenances is calculated for a supply of 90,000,000 gallons daily. The filtration commission from their investigations reached the conclusion that the actual consumption of water was 30 gallons per capita for household use, and including all use amounted to 60 gallons per capita, a figure closely approximating that ascertained by actual experience in Cleveland, where with the services already metered, including all the manufacturing establishments and other large consumers, the actual consumption is at the rate of 70 gallons per capita. Now even at the rate of 100 gallons per capita, 90,000,000 gallons a day would suffice for a city of 900,000, and Pittsburgh entire had only a little over 321,000 in 1900. At the present rate of increase the city will not exceed 750,000 in 1950, so that Director Bigelow's estimate is based on the needs of distant generations and not the present. It would be an excessive provision for the Pittsburgh of 50 years hence.

Director Bigelow's own statement shows the extravagance of his calculations. The present consumption, largely waste, he gives as being 69,000,000 gallons per day, and adds that metering the service will make a reduction of 40 per cent; that is to say, metering the service would reduce the present requirement to 41,400,000 gallons per day. Why then is it necessary to provide a plant sufficient to furnish 90,000,000 gallons a day? Under the present wasteful system the consumption will keep growing, while the metering is going on, but the saving through metering is such that the increase of consumption is checked long before the system is completely introduced. In Cleveland, with 27 per cent of the service metered, an actual decrease of the quantity pumped has begun. For the quarter ending March 31, 1903, there was 15.87 per cent decrease at one pumping station and 23.80 per cent at the other pumping station as compared with the same quarter for 1902. The experience of other cities which have metered the service indicate that the present consumption of 69,000,000 gallons a day will be reduced for a term of years and will not again be reached for 20 years to come, and that for the entire city, South Side included. This cuts out an item of $2,424,000 included in Mr. Bigelow's estimate. Deducting from his gross estimate of $7,152,000 the $3,433,400 which by his own admissions are not really needed, and the estimate shrinks to $3,718,600. There can be no manner of doubt that if the commission's original recommendation of a three million bond issue had been adopted and the work carried on in accordance with the plans of the commission that amount would have been sufficient and we should now be having a supply of filtered water which would rid the city of the typhoid fever epidemic and be adequate for all needs for many years to come. As it is an additional loan of one million will be quite enough.

Wise anticipation of future needs will not extend beyond provision of land area for additional filter beds as needed. To build at present filter beds for the accommodation of a city of 900,000 people would be sheer folly, but just that folly is embodied in Director Bigelow's absurd estimates. The appearance at the committee meeting of a chemical filtration agent illuminates the character of the whole proceeding. The clique of politicians who now rule the city are evidently determined that the people shall have a doctored water supply and not a filtered water supply.

Carnegie's Gift Criticised.

As an outspoken opponent of every form of philanthropy that savors of charity, Mr. Carnegie will hardly relish the charge made by a writer in the National Review, that he is undermining the sturdy independence of the Scot by his educational gifts. This writer, who signs himself "Glasgow," will not admit that there is any good in any of Mr. Carnegie's pet schemes for uplifting the human race in general and the canny Scotch in particular. The free library, he strongly intimates, is "a sop to the indolent loafer," while his gifts of church organs constitute "a very doubtful contribution to the popular welfare." But it is the proposal to help the Scotch universities and the poor but deserving young Scotchman that rouses this writer's wrath most of all. Maimed and tainted independence, he says, will be the result of Mr. Carnegie's gift, hedged round as it is with provisions and conditions. "In every case the lords and gentlemen acting for Mr. Carnegie will exercise the dominating voice. All will be as the committee may from time to time decide."

As regards the subvention of needy students, "Glasgow" is even more severe. He fears that the Scottish student who cultivates the Muses on a little oatmeal may become extinct, and young men specially fitted for successful farmers, tradesmen and shop keepers may be turned into "gangs of unpractical scientists, theologians sadly down at heel, and spasmodic men of letters that are no better than dumb dogs." Worse than this, he sees in the provision that the beneficiary may repay the sums advanced when he is well able to do so, virtually constituting it a debt of honor, a "perilous and deadly experiment," in consequence of which the qualified and deserving young men "may go through life with Mr. Carnegie seated heavily on their shoulders, a veritable old man of the sea."

It has hitherto seemed that Mr. Carnegie's philanthropic activities left little room for such criticism as indiscriminate charity evokes. True, the greater glory of A. Carnegie has usually been enhanced, and stout strings of provisos and conditions have been attached to substantial gifts. But "Glasgow" contends that even helping those who help themselves is bound to undermine their moral integrity and impair their staying powers in the race of life. There is some reason in all his reasonings and it would be interesting to hear what the laird of Skibo will say when he reads the National Review.

Capt. Sibert's bridge raising plans, though slightly modified, continue to ignore the fact that every inch of added grade is an added cost in traction to the millions of tons of traffic passing over them. This problem of foot tons is too heavy for the bridge raisers.

Retiring Minister Leishman's rank to ambassador may increase his influence with the sublime porte, but not to the same extent as having warships at Beirut.

Director Bigelow's early education evidently included the problem of one and one make two. After that it is easy to double estimates.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Dr. Edwin Maxey of Washington, D. C., has been chosen as the new professor of law at the West Virginia university.

Judge Edmund Christian Minor of the Richmond (Va.) law and equity court, who died on Monday at Norwich, Conn., lost an arm at Winchester in 1863 while serving under Fitz Hugh Lee.

President Harper of the University of Chicago has left Constantinople, after having secured valuable concessions from the sultan in connection with the exploration of the neighborhood of ancient Babylon.

C. M. Malloy of Chattanooga, Tenn., has not been discouraged at his fourth disastrous attempt at a flying machine, and has gone to San Francisco with the intention of building his fifth machine on the Pacific coast.

The Rev. Alexander Francis, pastor of the Anglo-American church at St. Petersburg, has resigned. He is going to South Africa. He managed the American famine relief fund in Russia in 1891-92 and participated in the Finnish relief work this year.

Bread Batter Than Blood.

You could give a number of children a good bowl of oatmeal and milk at a penny a head. This means for 300 days £1 5s per head; say for 200,000 children for every weekday in the year, £250,000. The war in South Africa cost about £250,000,000. Taking money at 3 per cent this is equivalent to £7,500,000 per annum. And yet probably the advantage to the race of giving a substantial meal to 200,000 children every day that they attend school would be worth a good deal more than any benefit likely to accrue to us from the South African war.—London Truth.

ONE OF THE HEROES.

Here is a song of a hero;
He is one of the many whose names
Are not and will never be written
On the scroll we refer to as Fame's;
He has never rushed, cheering, to battle,
He has never plunged into the wave
To rescue a child or a woman,
Yet he ought to be named with the brave.
Each night he goes home to a scolding,
To hear the old story again
Of the talent he lacks and his failure
To claim the attention of men.

Each morning he goes to his duties
Still striving to win and still proud,
Still waiting for Fate to permit him
To show why to work up from the crowd;
Each day he goes patiently toiling
And sighing alone, if he sighs—
His sorrows are his, and his only;
Hope still is a gleam in his eyes;
In spite of the wearisome scolding
And grumbling he goes to at night,
He faces the world in the morning
As though all his dreams had been bright.

With never a mortal to praise him
For what he has done or has tried
He still has an honest ambition
And still in his breast he has pride.
With never the hope of receiving
Approval at home he can still,
With his sorrows all carefully hidden,
Toil on with a conqueror's will;
So here is a song of a hero,
But one of the many whose names
Are not and will never be written
On the scroll we refer to as Fame's.

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

It's all right.

Had you been there you would have been glad—but couldn't have helped it.

And when a fellow is glad he feels good, and he is good, for no one ever really feels good unless he is good. His good spell may not last long, and when it stops he feels only tolerable.

Most people feel only tolerable.

It's all right, Pymatuning is, no matter what silly and mean things may be said about it.

Had you been at Transfer last Saturday, eaten a Pymatuning dinner and visited with the couple of thousand hale, hearty, happy people gathered together in Frampton's grove, you would be willing and anxious to testify that the Pymatuning harvest home is the real thing, and all right.

And it ought to be all right, for it is the father of harvest homes in Mercer county, if not the grandfather of some. It was celebrating its quarter centennial, and the folks say it was never more vigorous, more popular, or gave greater promise of living a full century.

The old camp ground is hardly equal to the demand, but there is a new grove nearby that offers all needed comforts and conveniences, save and except old associations, and those count for much, particularly with the old folks.

* * * * *

If Pymatuning ever was infected with witches and worlicks, goblins and boogoolins, or anything uncanny and creepy, it is well rid of them now. Such things can't live there. The atmosphere is not healthful for them.

But it is healthful for good people, as was clearly shown by the numbers of healthy, hardy and happy men and women, boys and girls, and babies, so much in evidence last Saturday.

And then the abundance of good things to eat, and the abundance eaten, to say nothing of the baskets full gathered up after the feast, showed forth the generousness of the soil, and of the people. They are generous livers, as good people always are. Nor do they claim the right, nor do they want to eat anything themselves. Only mean people are piggish enough to want to eat it all.

Those who come from the towns round about had their fill of good things, including elderberry, peach, pumpkin and other sorts of pie. These were not only full of choice fruit, but full of character, and good, too. And there were other edibles, more or less substantial, as well as delectable.

The evident enjoyment of the visitors added greatly to the enjoyment of the folks, for, as you may know, there isn't anything that pleases a good housewife more than to see and to know that visitors are pleased with their cooking and housekeeping.

* * * * *

The day was not devoted to eating, not entirely. There was good heart cheer and flow of soul, intermingled with speeches, music by the band and noise by the children.

There were politicians on the ground, but they were not working; at least they said they were not. Some said they were there because they had hay fever; others that they needed a rest; and a few because they just couldn't resist the temptation to come and be farmers again, if only for a day.

If they love the farm as they say, and agriculture is so very fascinating, the wonder is how the dingy, hot, unhealthy office manages to hold them. And if the farmer is the honest, upright, unselfish man, the free, independent, good man they picture in their speeches, greater still the wonder that they don't abandon their slavish professions and fly to the field.

But they don't.

By the way, Maj. McDowell, who used to be a politician, but is now making a strenuous effort to reform, says he wants to buy a farm, and is willing to pay the price if he can find one to his liking. His notion of an ideal farm, and he won't have anything else, is a nice stretch of land extending from a clear, flowing stream abounding in fish, up to, or just inside the charming suburbs of a thrifty, moral, well governed town or small city. Speaking of this, his voice trembling with emotion, he declared there was nothing else that gave him such pleasure as sitting on the porch of a modern farmhouse and seeing honest farmers farming.

* * * * *

Judge Miller of Mercer laid aside the ermine for a day and came over to renew his youth, and to enjoy looking into the faces of honest men, and feeling the heartsome clasp of the farmer hand. And he enjoyed himself for several hours almost without a break.

His address contained at least one surprise for the audience, and it may appeal to others in the same way.

He said that once upon a time a young man, farm-raised and schooled in a log schoolhouse, as all great men have been, or should have been, drifted into a Pittsburgh newspaper office and deliberately took upon himself the garb of a reporter. He didn't seem to know what he was doing at the time, and didn't find out for a good while.

He had a failing, as some model young men have, and his was a habit of showing up late. His attendance was called to the matter several times, and he as often promised to break off, but only to fall down again. At last it was decided to fire him the very next time, and it wasn't long coming, and the break was a bad one.

Having been called into the presence of the managing editor he was told that after all his promises, and in spite of the leniency shown on the part of the management he had come in nearly an hour late. But before the fatal word could be spoken he broke into an explanation.

He said he had risen early, determined in his heart and mind to make his reformation a safe thing, ate a hurried meal, and started off at a reasonable speed. On the way he stopped in a barber shop to get shaved in order that he might appear neat and tidy. Just as the barber had finished one side of his face and was about to roll him over, a little German band broke loose around the corner and the barber broke out after it and didn't return for just 47 minutes, which caused him to be some minutes late.

The severity of the managing editor's demeanor began to modify, and finally he apologized to the young man, and told him they hadn't sized him up right; that he was a born romancer of the inventive type, and that hereafter he should keep right on romancing, and he has.

The next day "Quiet Observations" blossomed out for the first time, and have been a blooming ever since. Long may they bloom.

As a bit of history that is a gem: but it is due to the distinguished speaker to say that he hedged a little by tagging onto it that all-saving phrase in law, "So it is alleged."

* * * * *

But then, everything goes at a harvest home, and so went the speakers for each other, friendly but keen, thereby adding greatly to the entertainment of the civil, well behaved people present. At first some of the more timid souls from down about Sharon were a bit scared, thinking there might be a scrap, or something that would shock their sensibilities or upset their equinanity.

However, they escaped with their equinanity unsullied and their sensibilities intact.

Your Quiet Observer was delighted with the discovery of his genesis, never having been quite able to figure out how it had all happened. Being a farmer, bred and born, as well as an agriculturist, he found himself at home among the weeds and brush, and enjoyed, especially, sitting on the fence for half an hour or so in company with such distinguished farmers as the Rev. Mr. Hall, J. C. McKnight, Judge Miller, Alfred Williams, McCormick, the lone Democrat with a hope, Maj. McDowell, Sam Simington and others. This old-fashioned rest was perfect, there not being a splinter on the top rail to spoil it.

This absence of splinters from top-rails shows that the Pymatuning farmer does not neglect his fences, nor deny himself rest and comfort when farming.

Should it ever happen again, and it surely will, don't fail to be there, for it is worth double what it costs, and that is a bargain every time.

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Manhattan, more than any other place in America, is becoming a city of monster signs. It is a municipality of magnificent distances from the advertisers' point of view. Towering skyscrapers offer blank walls for the skill of the painter; primeval rocks hundreds of feet high and unlimited in size literally invite the enterprise of breakfast food and patent medicine managers; hundreds of miles of wooden fences, under the control of companies capitalized in the millions, care any billposters but those who pay for the privilege of posting certain "paper." And still there is a demand for more space. Persons who can devise some particularly striking advertisement which will arrest the attention of everyone passing it are able to command almost their own compensation. Undoubtedly the most attractive street advertisement today is that of a certain brand of whisky on the north side of what remains of the old Sturtevant house in Broadway. On the wall is painted the gigantic figure of a man making a highball with the assistance of the advertised whisky. So tall is this man that his head overtops the building and is painted on profile. He holds a seltzer syphon, from which he is squirting what is presumed to be a carbonic water into a large tumbler built out from the wall. From the spout of the syphon squirts a good-sized stream of real water into the glass. So realistic is the whole contrivance that nearly everybody passing makes some admiring comment. It is, if possible, more noticeable than the sign of Heinz, the Pittsburgh pickle manufacturer, which used to occupy a great flat space where the Fatiron building now stands.

A Trick That Failed.

The ways of employment agents are devious and skillful. A Broadway business man advertised for a stenographer in a daily paper. The next day he received a well-written, dignified letter from "Bertha Hardy." The letter was so well-worded, giving evidence of culture in the author, that the business man, believing he discerned a treasure, wrote asking Miss Hardy to call the next day. Miss Hardy did not come, but he had a procession of stenographers of all sizes and degrees of undesirability that kept him busy for two hours until he closed his door, and ordered that no more should be admitted. He explained to me: "I know these women come through my answer to Miss Hardy, because I have not answered any other. It is an old trick, but I had forgotten it. That letter signed 'Bertha Hardy' was written by an employment agent or someone on his staff just to learn my name and address. Then he fires at me all the incompetents he has on his list. Do you see? Well, I would not take one of his girls at any price. He will have to try on someone else." Then the business man smiled admirably, in spite of his indignation, as he murmured: "I tell you, those agents are smart, though."

Now, Let Satan Lock Out.

Ministers are coming here from their vacations. Nearly all the prominent churches along Fifth avenue and elsewhere were in charge of their regular pastors this morning. Dr. Parkhurst is not home yet, however.

Municipal Jealousy in Jersey.

Paterson has finished its week of carnival and the business men there say it has been an enormous success. Not only has there been a large number of visitors who have enjoyed the entertainment provided, but very little lawbreaking is recorded. A few pickpockets were caught yesterday—all from Newark, according to the police. It is customary in Paterson, when thieves or crooks of any kind are arrested, to say that they come from Newark. There is about the same rivalry between the New Jersey cities as is said to exist between St. Louis and Chicago.

Old Coney Grateful.

Coney Island did not break all records today, but it had a good many thousand people there who left money enough with the fakirs and restaurants to enable them to express gratitude to their fates tonight. Piety is not much in evidence at Coney Island.

Hard on Carpetbaggers.

The state superintendent of elections is preparing to take severe measures against "colonizing" in connection with the forthcoming primaries. It has been the custom in previous years for a large number of "transfers" from one district to another to be made just before the primary elections, but the law is more stringent now and this kind of thing will have a hard time of it. So much depends on the fall election that all parties are watching their opponents like hawks, and it will be hard for illegal votes to get through. It is generally the way when parties are split, as is the case this year in New York. Every in particular, is smiling over the prospect of a red-hot fight.

Fresh Fish.

New York lives largely on a fish diet. It must, or where does all the fish go. Seventy-five tons of fish is consumed in New York every day, and there is seldom any left over when the Fulton fish market closes at night. One thing is that it would not much matter if any were left over, because the next day's supply is handled early in the morning, and some of the previous day's share might easily get mixed in. As a matter of fact, however, there is no other city in the country in which fresh fish can be got cheaper and in better condition.

Those Pesky Pennies.

Car conductors in New York are delighted over the news that the Philadelphia mint will not coin any more pennies for at least a year, unless it gets a special order from the United States treasury. More than 3,000,000 million pennies have been shipped from the mint in the last five years. Car conductors are not allowed to turn in pennies to the company. When they get them in fare—as they often do from women—they must convert them into nickels and dimes or keep them in their own pockets. That is their negative interest in cents.

Currency Question.

No doubt can be felt that the plans of Secretary Shaw for increasing the bank note circulation are succeeding, thus giving a measure of elasticity to a system heretofore regarded as essentially rigid. The aggregate issue experienced a gain of $2,402,906 last week, due to the placing of the Philippine certificates as security for government deposits, thus releasing bonds for the basis of new bank notes. The total circulation now stands at $520,932,929, as compared with $345,476,576 on July 1, 1902. The gain of $75,447,123 in little over a year has been largely due to the various devices which Mr. Shaw has adopted, the principal one being the funding of the old 4 and 5 per cent bonds into the 2 per cent consols. Circulation issued on these is taxed only one-half of 1 per cent. Again, the secretary has raised the limit of circulation up to the par value of the bonds issued, whereas it was formerly only 90 per cent. Still another was his acceptance of approved state and municipal bonds as security for deposits of internal revenue receipts in lieu of government bonds liberated to be used as a basis of circulation. A good many banks have an aversion to taking out their full pro rata of circulation, but by this plan he induced them to increase their bank issues materially. The Philippine certificates also come in to help at a fortunate time. The action of Mr. Shaw in making deposits in St. Louis on the security of state and municipal bonds is confirmation of his promise to come to the relief of the money market which has been suffering from the withdrawal of a heavy surplus by the treasury, but at the time when it is most needed in trade. Nobody presumes to accuse the clumsy system which usually contrives to bring about a squeeze twice a year, but Mr. Shaw has gone further than any other secretary in mitigating the evils resulting. The plain man from the interior of Iowa has already made a reputation among the finance ministers of the world. Now if the next congress will pass, as it seems likely to do, a bill to remove the limit of $3,000,000 monthly on the retirement of bank notes, the system will really become flexible.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

+ + + +

The reasons why Wall street is so well satisfied with Mr. Shaw are many, but the particular cause of the song of praise for the secretary just now is his course in relation to increasing the deposits in national banks through the medium of his segregation of internal revenue taxes, and by accepting as security for such deposits bonds other than United States bonds, as he did last fall. It is felt that Mr. Shaw's policy will avert the usual great stringency in money that takes place during the crop moving period. Mr. Shaw has already made the currency system more elastic, and New York brokers are now much more indifferent than they were as to whether or not currency measures are passed by congress. Wall street does not like President Roosevelt's attitude toward corporate combinations, but this dissatisfaction with the administration is counteracted largely by Secretary Shaw's financial policy.—Reading Times and Dispatch.

No one today has any fear that the treasury note, a silver dollar, a silver certificate or a United States note will not be exactly as good as a gold dollar. That was not the case in 1893, when the ability of the government to maintain the parity of those forms of money was questioned. The whole credit of the government, to the utmost extent of its bonding capacity, is pledged to that parity now. It is well to emphasize this contrast as a potent cause of the equanimity with which the money market has sustained a protracted period of liquidation and even an abnormal shrinkage of security prices. It is the more important, in view of the effort of Bryan to retire to the rear the unlimited coinage of silver as merely "one phase of the money question," while reiterating his disbelief in maintaining the parity of the metallic silver dollar. That heresy still rears its head, in the face of experience.—Lancaster News.

How the position of the east and the west have been reversed on this subject of currency reform during the past decade. Ten years ago the cry for an increased currency was from the west, which appealed to congress to "save the country," but was informed by the east, which had the money and was holding on to it, that such a course would be unfriendly to the honor and credit of the nation. More money, the men who are now demanding financial reform declared, would not solve the problem. Any man who thought that it would was a fanatic or a demagogue or seeking to destroy his country's honor among the nations of the earth.—Topeka State Journal.

+ + + +

The Fowler asset-currency proposition provides for the issue of credit notes by national banks upon deposit with the United States treasury of gold coin or government bonds amounting to 5 per cent of the total issue. In addition there would be a 1 per cent tax on the notes. This 5 per cent and 1 per cent, with the 2 per cent interest derived from federal deposits, would create a fund which, in the opinion of Mr. Fowler, would amply secure the notes. He names $10,000,000 as the fund, any excess to be used in buying the gold which is to be used to convert the greenbacks. It is possible that Mr. Fowler will succeed in getting congress to get favorably on his new bill, but the chances are that he will not. Several bankers' associations have declared against any asset currency proposition at this time and if bankers cannot agree on what they want, there is little likelihood of getting congress to adopt a remedy.—Buffalo Express.

A Navy Stuff.

It is a curious commentary upon our legislative procedure that the army general staff, which is derived from previous naval demands for improvement, should be authorized by law while a similar naval necessity is left unsatisfied because of an opposition that, to put it mildly, is unreasoning. However, the navy is not without its friends in the senate and in the public press, and when congress reassembles these will undoubtedly have some voice in deciding whether the general good or the will of a group, possibly of an individual, is to control.—New York Herald.

CHEKIB BEY SAYS TALES ARE FALSE

Turkish Minister Declares That There Have Been No Massacres.

MAKES A FORMAL STATEMENT

His Countrymen, He Maintains, Are Endeavoring in Lawful Manner to Restore Tranquility in Macedonia — Calls Charges Infamous.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—"In the absence of cable information from my government I am today not prepared to discuss in detail the general situation. I will say, however, that the reports spread broadcast of the wholesale and atrocious massacres by my countrymen are absolutely untrue and have not the slightest foundation in fact.

"There have been no massacres. The advance of our troops has necessarily been accompanied by bloodshed, but it was what may be properly called legitimate warfare. Soldiers simply discharged their duty. For the Musselmen to massacre their own people would be as imbecile and as useless as for a man to sever one of his own limbs.

"We are simply trying to restore tranquility, and I confidently look for the cessation of all trouble within a comparatively short time.

"I have made a careful calculation of the number of villages destroyed and the people killed as shown by the printed accounts and I find that a simple mathematical calculation, based on these accounts, show that we are burning more villages and massacreing more people than can be found in the entire disturbed district. This is an illustration of the absolute falsity of the infamous charges.

"I also find in these accounts frequent mention of the terrible atrocities practiced by the bashi-bazouks, or what you term irregular soldiery. This would be interesting if it were not for the fact that there are no bashi-bazouks among our forces nor have there been any for a considerable length of time. Our men all belong to the regular army, subject to regular army discipline, with all that that implies.

"I sincerely regret that these maliciously false reports have been given to the world and trust that the fair-minded people of this country will not accept them as true until they can be subjected to a full, free and unprejudiced investigation, the result of which will be a thorough and complete vindication of my countrymen. CHEKIB BEY,

"Turkish Minister to United States."

CHRISTIAN REFUGEES REFUSE TO RETURN

Promise of Protection at Beirut Not Convincing—Situation in Macedonia.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—Calm continued at Beirut, but trade is at a standstill. Reshid Pasha, the dismissed vali, left Beirut Saturday for Constantinople. The other powers have not abandoned their intention of sending warships to Beirut. The Christian refugees camped in the mountains refuse to return to Beirut, in spite of the promise of the authorities to protect them.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Sept. 13.—The Albanian and Turkish troops collected in the valayet of Adrianople appear to be pursuing their usual tactics of burning and plundering the villages and killing the peasants, instead of making an attempt to break up the insurgent bands. The position of Christians is desperate. The Turks are making a clean sweep of the whole Bulgarian element. They burned the villages of Almagik and Erikler, in the district of Losengrad. They beheaded 22 Bulgarians at Almagik in the presence of their families. Twelve thousand troops are assembled around Makstonovo and are engaged in pillaging and burning the villages. The population everywhere is fleeing to the forests and mountains. All the Turkish population in the District of Losengrad has received arms, even the boys have revolvers.

The Albanian soldiers proceeding from Odrin to Losengrad plundered the villages enroute, robbed the churches and burned the village of Koraket. Another body of Albanians going to Vasiliko, on the Baick sea, was attacked by a band and is reported to have suffered a loss of 100 men. A band led by the insurgent chief, Atamasoff, was surrounded by Turkish troops at Kokushko.

Negro Minstrel Mortally Wounded During an Exciting Combat.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Sept. 13.—Elijah James, known as "Black Prince," fatally shot William Jeffries in the stomach today. Both are colored and members of the Georgia Plantation Minstrels, who have been showing at the state fair. The trouble grew out of James' alleged insult to Jeffries' wife. The two men fought for a block. Jeffries carrying a heavy rock and James emptying a 38-caliber six-shooter at his pursuer, only one ball taking effect.

A plate-glass window in a business house was broken and a bullet singed a woman. A big negro felled James with a blow, and Jeffries, mortally wounded, jumped on him and made frantic efforts to plunge a long knife into his heart. He succeeded in cutting two long gashes in his arm when Officer Padden separated the men at the point of his revolver. Jeffries is dying in a hospital, and all the minstrels are under arrest.

FEAR REVOLT IN PANAMA.

Province Through Which Canal Route Passes Is Disaffected.

BOGOTA, Sept. 13.—A proposal made by Senor Perez y Soto to ask the executive to appoint an anti-secessionist governor in Panama has been approved by the senate. Speakers in the senate said that Senor Obaldia, who was recently appointed governor of Panama and who is favorable to a canal treaty, is a danger for the international integrity. President Marroquin succeeded later in calming the congressmen. It appears that he was able to give them satisfactory reasons for Gov. Obaldia's appointment. The Bogota government appears to realize the imminent peril of the isthmus of Panama declaring its independence.

WILKINSBURG'S BURGESS WANTS TO HAVE A NEAT AND TIDY TOWN

I desire to call your attention to the great number of worthless and dangerous dogs that are running at large upon our streets. Most of these dogs are not protected by license and could be disposed of as public nuisances by the officers of the borough. I ask the owners to assist us in this matter and kill or otherwise dispose of all worthless animals. I also desire to direct your attention to the accumulation of weeds and rubbish on and in front of vacant lots especially, but also often upon improved property. Let each owner of property see that these things are entirely destroyed so that our town may have a neat and tidy appearance and that we may secure such sanitary conditions as will be conducive to good health.—Proclamation by Burgess John A. Keys of Wilkinsburg, to be issued today.

NO FEAR OF HARD TIMES DISTURBS THE COUNTRY

Business Men All Over the Country Express Satisfaction at the Prospect of Continued Prosperity.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

The Herald this morning prints a large number of interviews with business men and manufacturers all over the country on business conditions and the business outlook. The matter is summed up in the following:

Merchants, manufacturers and bankers express themselves as satisfied that no diminution of our national prosperity is in sight. The only note of doubt, and that a smothered one, is heard in New York city. Elsewhere the confidence is shared by all.

No financial stringency is reported save in the metropolis. From the middle west word is sent that the country banks are not asking for assistance in furthering the movement of the bumper crops. The steel companies are proceeding in a manner suggestive of continued prosperity. The mercantile agencies do not report any more failures than at the same period a year ago.

No reduction in wages is reported in any part of the country, and the stoppage of work in New England cotton mills and Pittsburgh glass works is declared to be merely temporary and not significant as regards future consumption of finished products. The steady progress towards peace in the local building trades disturbance is taken to indicate a resumption of easier money, for it is estimated that with 50,000 men idle here all summer at least $500,000 in wages has been withheld every week from circulation in channels where the tide of cash ebbs and flows.

The transient buyers have brought more money to New York this autumn than ever before, and they have left more extensive orders and taken away with them better qualities of goods than previously. This has tended to offset the undeniable dullness in the wholesale dry-goods district that has prevailed for some time.

The shrinkage in stocks and the disturbed conditions in the labor market there do not appear to have had any appreciable effect upon the men busy in the factories, the mines and the fields, and those who are not in close touch with New York city, for they express the greatest confidence in the continuance of good times.

The state of trade is shown by the following summary of important factors:

Steel—Based on satisfactory reports of cereal crops, the United States Steel Corporation has placed orders for ore, coke, coal and lime for the ensuing year on the same basis as for 1903.

Glass—Large sums have been spent this summer in making additions to plants. Window glass workers have received an increase in wages.

Banks — Reports from many districts show that collections were never better. Chicago banks report no need of currency legislation.

Crops — On the Pacific slope almost everything produced by the farmer is above the normal in prices. In the south the farmers will get a higher price for their cotton than for a decade.

Boots and shoes—Both wholesalers and retailers announce unprecedented sales all over the country.

Clothing—Unless abnormal warm weather should ensue, all lines expect to do 10 per cent more business than was done a year ago.

Groceries — Wholesale firms in New York state that they are doing an excellent business.

Dry goods—Wholesale dry goods houses look for a continuance of steady business with the resumption of autumn activity.

Cotton mills—Production has been so curtailed that in many factories less than two weeks' stock of cotton print is on hand.

Woolen goods—The prospects for large sales during the next few months are considerably brighter.

SPECULATOR HAS BEEN HEAVY LOSER

Head of Canadian Pacific Analyzes Conditions in the United States.

PEOPLE SUFFER NO LOSSES

Cause of the Heavy Decline in Prices of Securities—So-Called Trust Evil Needlessly Alarms American People. Public Don't Feel the Slump.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONTREAL, Sept. 13. Sir Thomas G. Shaughennessy, head of the Canadian Pacific railroad, speaking of the recent sensational deal in American railway and industrial securities, said that while the figures reflected an apparent state of affairs which seemed appalling, they were apt to be misleading. The New York Central, Southern Pacific and Steel Corporation stocks were considered, and the result of such consideration was put down as follows:

"The New York Central railroad has issued stock amounting to $131,908,000. Within a year this has been worth $160, or had a market value of $221,552,800. At the present time this stock is down to almost $120, which means that it has shrunk so that now it is worth $52,736,200 less in cash than it was a year ago. Twenty-five per cent of the value of this high-class railroad stock has been lost to its holders. And this during a year when the net earnings of the New York Central were the greatest in its history, which amounted to $28,916,402. It will take the net earnings of the road, at this rate, nearly two years to make up this apparently shrinkage of its capital stock.

"The people who have this stock put away as a permanent investment and draw dividends on its par value do not feel the slump; it affects the speculator principally. Southern Pacific railway stock has been worth as high as $98 during the past year, and very recently it has been down to $40—more than half its value gone. The Southern Pacific has issued capital stock amounting to $197,-849,227 and is today worth nearly $100,-000,000 less than it was some 12 month ago.

Figures on Shrinkage.

"And this despite the fact that the net earnings of the road were never larger. The Southern Pacific earned last year $25,897,107 net, so that it will require four years at that rate to make good the apparent drop of one year in the cash value of the road's capital stock.

"The Steel Corporation issued stock upon its organization of February 25, 1901, amounting to $1,018,849,800. The common stock at first sold at 50, but has recently sold as low as 20.

"The shrinkage from the highest to the present, or lowest, market value has amounted to about 60 per cent. This means that the $508,467,200 of common stock which a year ago was worth in cash $254,247,600, is today worth at the market quotation only $101,699,040, or $152,548,560 less than it was a year ago."

"Does this mean that the so-called Morgan school of finance is on the decline?" he was asked.

"I would not call it that. The American people, it seems to me, were needlessly alarmed some time ago regarding the organization of these great combinations. If there is anything in the over-capitalization line in the United States that needs remedying it will remedy itself.

"Very often bad management will result in separating these combined enterprises. On the other hand, where they are well managed, the scheme has worked to reduce expenses and cost of production.

Men Who Lose Heavily.

"Many men who have large business enterprises on their hands have been induced to sell to these so-called trusts and taken the greater part of their payment in stock. They have turned over their business interests and it has been heralded forth among their friends that they had sold out for millions. We will say that a man is quoted at $12,000,000. His family and the neighbors all congratulate him on his good luck. He was retired from business and after his return from Europe, on a year's tour he finds that his $12,000,000 have shrunk to $8,000,000 or $4,000,000. While he has sufficient money he has lost faith in stocks and is not making any investment in that kind of thing. Neither is he advising his friends to do so, but rather advising them to keep out.

"This is the sort of thing that is operating in the United States today to cure what the people have all along been calling the greatest evil confronting the country. As I said a while ago, if a cure is needed, one will be found itself. Probably it has been found already."

CHILD WIFE ENDS LIFE WITH CARBOLIC ACID

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Mrs. Zella Botkins, wife of Harry Botkins, committed suicide at her home in Schaum avenue last night, by drinking carbolic acid, after reproaching her husband for staying out late. Mrs. Botkins was only 18 years old and was married to Botkins last April. She was a daughter of Frank McCarthy of North Fourth street and has a married sister living in Coshocton.

90-MILE HURRICANE RAGED AROUND NASSAU

NASSAU, BAHAMAS, Friday, Sept. 11. —A severe hurricane began here on Wednesday night and has just ended. The velocity of the wind was 90 miles. Great damage has been done to vegetation and farm produce, while the fruit crops have been ruined. The shipping around this island (New Providence), was badly damaged. No news from the other islands has yet been received.

Wilkinsburg Elks' Lawn Fete.

Wilkinsburg lodge, No. 577, B. P. O. Elks, will hold its annual lawn fete Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week on the grounds adjoining the former club house, in Penn avenue. The grounds will be finely decorated, many of the young women of the borough assisting in the work.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Charles Coudert.

Mrs. Coudert, wife of Charles Coudert, died suddenly of apoplexy yesterday at her home at Tuxedo Park, N. Y. Two of her daughters, Mrs. William R. Garrison and Mrs. Condé Nast, who reside in Tuxedo, were present. Of Mrs. Coudert's other children this country, Miss Grace Coudert was visiting friends at Millbrook and Mrs. Frederick Brenig was at the seashore. Her other daughters, the Marquise de Chollet and Madame Glaenzer, reside in Paris, and Capt. C. Dupont Coudert, late of the United States volunteers, is traveling abroad. Mrs. Coudert was in her sixty-second year.

Col. Benjamin W. Byrne.

Col. Benjamin Wilson Byrne, aged 85, is dead at Charleston, W. Va. He was born in Braxton county, which at that time was a part of the "Old Dominion." He studied law at Staunton, Va., and, after being admitted to the bar, served several terms as a member of the legislature of Virginia from his district. In 1861 he was chosen a delegate to the Virginia constitutional convention, which passed the ordinance of secession. Col. Byrne, after the war, served in many positions of honor in West Virginia. A widow and six children survive him.

Colin M. Ingersoll.

Colin M. Ingersoll, a member of a famous New England family, died yesterday at New Haven, Conn. He was 84 years old and had been ill several weeks with pneumonia and complications. He was clerk of the state senate in 1848; secretary of the American legation in St. Petersburg under his father, United States Minister Ralph Ingersoll, in 1847-48, and a year later was charge d'affaires there.

SMUGGLED LIQUOR CAUSED EXPLOSION

Executive Officer of Olympia Makes Statement of the Disaster.

ANOTHER VICTIM IS DEAD

Crew on Shore Liberty Brought Alcohol Aboard the Cruiser—It Has Not Been Developed What Agency Ignited the Spirits.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 13.—Lt. Commander Vandoser, executive officer of the cruiser Olympia, today gave out an official statement of the facts attending the explosion of a barrel of alcohol on the cruiser deck last night, causing the death of Marine Corporal J. S. Yerkes of Philadelphia, and Apprentice Seifert and the serious injury of Third-Class Master-at-Arms Caster and Apprentice Spavey, in addition to the burning of the cruiser's forward awnings and awning supports. The explosion resulted indirectly from the smuggling of alcohol into the navy yard by members of the cruiser's crew.

The statement of Lt.-Commander Vandoser says:

The entire crew of the Olympia were returning aboard after 48 hours shore liberty when a five-gallon water breaker full of alcohol was discovered in the forward turret. The executive officer at once ordered a thorough search of the ship and the yard in her vicinity to find any other spirits that might have been smuggled. As the cruiser is in dry dock all her small boats are lined in rows along the wharf near the dry dock. Between two of these boats two men were discovered. One fled and escaped in the darkness. The other was placed under arrest. Where the men were hiding was found a full barrel of alcohol, which had been broached. It was, by order, carried aboard the Olympia, to be emptied into the alcohol tank on the aft deck. This tank being full, the barrel was carried forward by Corporal Yerkes, Seifert, Spavey and Caster. In the meantime, the men were called to quarters and every man accounted for.

While the men were in line answering the roll the detachment with the barrel began emptying its contents into a tank on the port side of the forward turret. They had scarcely begun when, in a manner yet to be ascertained, the fumes of the spirits became ignited and exploded with terrific force. Both ends of the barrel were blown out, followed by a torrent of burning alcohol that spread in a flood of flame over the forward main deck.

Yerkes was struck in the head by a stave from the barrel and fell into the burning mass. He was roasted to death. The other three men were also struck by flying fragments of the barrel, but were fortunately saved from the center of the fire, and thus two of them escaped fatal injury, but Seifert was horribly burned and so injured that he died today.

It was first thought a tank of smokeless powder had exploded and the crew for a moment broke ranks, but in a second recovered from the suddenness of the shock and together with a will to save their injured shipmates and extinguish the fire that already was gaining headway on the cruiser's deck. This done, the injured men were hurried to the Marine hospital.

South Sharon Church Dedicated.

SHARON, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—In the presence of over 2,000 persons the new Slavish Catholic church at South Sharon was dedicated today. The dedication was preceded by a parade in which societies from Sharon, Youngstown, Hubbard, Struthers and South Sharon, and two brass bands and about 600 men were in line. Bishop Fitzmaurice conducted the dedicatory ceremonies and was assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Frank Charney.

THE HEINZ EXHIBIT.

WORLD RENOWNED MANUFACTURER AND HIS FAMOUS "FIFTY-SEVEN."

Heinz at the Pittsburgh Exposition.

Nature and art blended into a beautiful whole with no pains spared to make a delightfully attractive exhibit are the characteristics of the display made by the H. J. Heinz Company. The space occupied by this enterprising firm is nearly 4,000 square feet, filling the foyer of the main building and the adjoining lobby. Hundreds of electric lamps light up the space and the color effect, white and gold, harmonizes with the beautiful surroundings. There is an atmosphere of cleanliness and brightness which is refreshing, and when the dainty viands prepared by this firm are served by attractive-looking demonstrators, one feels that to miss visiting this particular exhibit would be a loss.

Picture to yourself tall pyramids of glass jars containing pickles, preserves and condiments—57 varities there may be—but one uninitiated in the mysteries of the pickling and preserving business would judge that there were 57 times 57. "Meet me at the Lighthouse" is an apt expression, because it is a good place to meet your friends. In the center of the Heinz exhibit is erected a complete model 50 feet high of the Absecon lighthouse at Atlantic City, which is near the famous Heinz pier. In one corner of the great square hall is an immense cube built of Heinz's canned products, the succulent baked beans with tomato sauce and the necessary dinner dish of tomato soup, such as only Heinz can produce. Many hundred cans are used in the construction of this cube, and no wonder that folks with speculative minds stop for a few minutes to estimate how many weeks a family could be fed on the contents of those cans alone.

Around the walls and on panels in the ceiling, are oil paintings depicting the workings of the various departments of the business of this firm. Strawberry day represents 600 girls hulling berries, 35,000 quarts in one day, during the berry season. This picture gives an idea of the large amount of fruit preserved by this firm, which uses the products of 20,000 acres each year, and in addition to their main plant in our city, it operates 19 branch factories situated in nine states, and 61 salting stations where cucumbers, cauliflower, in fact, fruits and vegetables of all kinds are converted into the food products for which this firm is noted. Twenty-six branch distributing houses from which travel 400 salesmen, are located in the principal cities at home and abroad. Coming back to the Heinz exhibit we wish to call your attention to the work of art that visitors are permitted to see. Custer's last rally, a canvas 11x20 feet, painted by John Mulvany, tells the thrilling story of how 300 brave soldiers were cut down at the battle of the Little Big Horn.

"Unter den Linden," by Skarbina, the noted painter of the impressionist art school, is 14x22 feet, and represents Emperor William I. and Empress Augusta driving in state in Berlin, surrounded by an enthusiastic throng of subjects. "The Elephant Hunt," by Professors Brachl, Hoecker and Friese, is a painting 12x20 feet and portrays an incident in the experience of a party of explorers sent over by the German government into Central Africa, when a herd of elephants were encountered on the banks of the river Kassai.

The last two paintings were among seven exhibitions by the Berlin Academy of Art, for three years in Berlin. All three of the paintings are from the Heinz auditorium. The broad mindedness and liberality evidenced by H. J. Heinz Co. is commendable, their exhibit is out of the ordinary and well worth one's time to give it a careful investigation.

bedding

During Spring and early Summer made large contracts at very advantageous prices.

Price concessions of importance were received for early deliveries—and for cash on delivery.

Bedding is now delivered—and quantities are large—larger than ever received—and bedding is bulky—and uses up piles of room—so much room that ware-room is congested—and new store is not quite completed.

Hence, we're going to sell a thousand pair Blankets—and that many Comforts and White quilts, each—and going to sell them right away.

If you want to get any and save Dollars, investigate and you can do it.

The first and biggest thing is, 300 pairs, large fine, 72 by 82, all wool, white country Blankets, $4.50 a pair—a chance to save a clean Dollar and a half on every pair you buy.

100 pairs very fine white, 11 quarter, wool Blankets—slight portion cotton in warp, $3.50—another chance to save an even Dollar a pair.

200 pairs large, 11 quarter, all wool white Country Blankets—all red borders, $3.00 a pair—bigger Blankets, more wool and more service—than you'll buy for anything near Three Dollars when Blanket season is here—and it's not far off.

White all wool Blankets, $2.50 and $15.00.

500 Dollar and quarter Comforts at $1.00 each—choice coverings—clean carded cotton—just twenty per cent under price—that's a big saving—and if you want to save it you can do it now.

Lot extra large 80 by 90 Comforts, $1.25 each—people who insist on big Comforts—can get them and save considerable.

100 Elder Downs, $3.50—choice coverings—clean and odorless Down—furnishing practical evidence of opportunity to save Dollars.

Comforts and Elder Downs, 50c to $18.00.

500 full large size, soft finish, white Crochet Quilts, 85c.

Lots of Quilts in the market sold at 75 and 85 cents—we have them and good values—but this 500 lot at 85c is extraordinary—and we want housekeepers and hotel folk to investigate.

100 white Marseilles Quilts, $1.85—full bed size—with heavy knotted fringes.

This is also an unusual Quilt chance.

silks

Sale of surplus summer stock—prices to dispose of it all in a day or two—great opportunity for good and serviceable dressing sacques, kimonos, etc.—500 yards White, corded, Dolla Wash Silks—36 inches wide, 55c.

Bright colored Paillet de soie—especially soft and clinging—proper and much worn for waists and gowns—exceptional quality for the price, 75c—special lot and it's worth immediate investigation by every woman who has use for silks of this nature.

New arrivals French Novelty Crepes—stylish for entire dressy gowns—no two patterns alike and every one exclusive here—double width, $5.00 and $7.50 a yard.

New black and colored Chiffon Velvets, shown this season by the most prominent Parisian dressmakers in their most successful models—soft and light weight.

Blacks, $2.00 to $8.00 a yard.
Colors, $3.00 to $4.00 a yard.

And variety for selection as assures satisfaction.

toilet goods prices

LOCAL BEER IS BEING ANALYZED

Dairy and Food Commissioner Has Samples from All of the County Breweries.

FORMALDEHYDE PUT IN MILK

Same Chemical Is Used to Embalm the Bodies of the Dead—Jam Is Being Made Without the Use of Strawberries.

"Our chemists are making an analysis of all beers manufactured and sold in Allegheny county. If it is found that salicylic acid is being used in the beverage prosecutions will follow."

The above announcement was made last night by Dr. B. H. Warren, state dairy and food commissioner. "I secured samples a couple of months ago," said he, "before there had been any publication of the fact that the department intended to examine into the purity of the beer made and sold in Pennsylvania. It takes a great deal of time to analyze beer, but our chemists will soon be ready to report.

"A quantity of impure beer made in a Western Pennsylvania county has been found. We will proceed against the manufacturer. Our agents have also discovered that some makers of blackberry wine in this end of the state are adulterating their product. We are also finding cider vinegar which is being made without the use of apples. Another manufacturer is putting strawberry jam on the market which is made of glucose, a jell of apple skins, cores and timothy seed."

His Hands Not Tied.

Dr. Warren is preparing for a vigorous campaign against the adulteration of food products in this county. He is paying no attention to politics in the administration of his office and is determined to put an end to the violation of the dairy and food laws. Gov. Pennypacker is giving him free rein and the political boss has not been able to prevent prosecutions, as has often been the case in the past.

Dr. Warren is giving particular attention to the prosecution of those who use formaldehyde in the milk. It is the same chemical used to embalm the bodies of the dead. Speaking of its use last night, Dr. Warren said:

"Formaldehyde, a powerful antiseptic, and one of the chief constituents of embalming fluids used by undertakers in preparing the dead for burial, appears to be the preservative most commonly employed by many ignorant or unscrupulous venders in Western Pennsylvania to 'fix' the milk and cream sold to unsuspecting consumers. Ice cream has also been found to contain formaline and boric acid and unlawful coloring matter.

"There seems to be no doubt but that formaldehyde, placed in milk and cream given to infants and invalids as a regular diet, produces distressing illness. Two or three deaths and several cases of serious sickness have, it is asserted, been traced to the excessive use of milk and cream thus 'dosed' to prevent it from becoming sour. Prof. F. T. Ashman, one of our Pittsburgh chemists, recently kept a sample of milk purchased at Johnstown for three days in a warm place and it did not become sour.

"This department proposes to exhaust all legal and honorable efforts at its command to drive out of business all milk embalmers, as well as other dealers who sell articles of food and drink which are fortified with injurious or poisonous drugs.

Penalty Too Light.

"It is very unfortunate that this nefarious work of preparing and selling different food commodities, as well as certain beverages which have been doctored with chemicals, some being ruinous to the health and life of the consumer, is not punishable by a long term of imprisonment.

"Our department is not opposed to the sale of oleo and renovated butter if those products are sold in accordance with the state laws. Citizens who desire to traffic in either of these articles can do so by first securing licenses from the department of agriculture at Harrisburg.

"In Allegheny county we have about 230 old cases which were left as a legacy from my predecessor. All of these have been turned over to our legal advisers and every effort will be made to have them speedily disposed of. Since I took charge of the dairy and food division on April last about 125 prosecutions have been ordered in Allegheny county, to wit: Milk and cream, 55; fresh meats (pork, hamburg steak, sausage, etc.), 16; oleo and renovated butter, 22; preserves, 11; cheese, 4; vinegar, 5; lard, 4; maple syrup, 9. Thirty-one of these cases have been heard and 17 of the defendants have paid fines, etc., aggregating $1,000. The defendants in the remaining 14 suits suits have either given bail for court or the magistrate has not as yet rendered his decisions. The remaining cases are in attorneys' hands and they will soon be brought up.

"The department of agriculture, through its dairy and food division, is pushing its work in a systematic and vigorous manner in all sections of the state.

"Last month we collected $6,500 in fines for violations of the pure food laws and about $400 for licenses to sell oleomargarine. This is the largest amount of fines collected by the department in one month since the office of dairy and food commissioner was created, some 12 years ago. September is likely to make a good showing, as nearly $2,500 has already been collected, and of this sum about $800 was paid by Allegheny county dealers who sold milk or cream either diluted with drugs or watered, or from which the required amount of fat was absent."

Last Service in the Parks.

The last park service of the year was held in West park, Allegheny, at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. The Braddock Library band furnished the instrumental portion of the musical program and E. T. Butts sang solos. Pastor S. Edward Young made the address, on "The Best Insurance."

CONFERENCE SERMONS ARE PREACHED AT ERIE

Bishop McCabe Addresses Over One Thousand Persons—Appointments Today.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WARREN, PA., Sept. 13.—The Sunday sessions of the Erie conference of the Methodist Episcopal church began with a sunrise prayer meeting at 6 o'clock, which was attended by the majority of the visiting clergy. At 9 o'clock followed the conference love feast, the Rev. Dr. W. P. Bignell of Greenville presiding.

Bishop McCabe delivered the morning sermon before an audience of over 1,000 persons, it being the largest congregation that ever assembled in the First Methodist church. He took for his subject "The Building of the Church," and strongly urged the ministers and members to become instilled with the Holy Ghost, that they might be enabled to do better and more satisfactory work.

The Rev. Dr. Smith of Pittsburgh occupied the pulpit of the Grace Methodist church, and the remaining pulpits were filled by the visiting members of the conference.

This afternoon Bishop McCabe ordained a large class of deacons and elders and tonight Dr. J. F. Berry of Chicago addressed a large congregation of young people, members of the Epworth league, concerning the work of this society. Following this was an evangelical service under the direction of the Rev. Joseph H. Smith. The audience in attendance exceeded that of the morning by about 500. The appointments for the year will be made tomorrow.

The committee appointed to investigate the charges of immoral conduct made against the Rev. A. G. Mills has not completed its work. The meetings are held behind closed doors.

BUTLER MAN SHOOTS INTRUDER AT HIS HOME

Finds Wife in Company With Another Man; Desperate Fight Follows.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BUTLER, PA., Sept. 13.—Last night A. S. Timblin, an oil well pumper, living here, went home, and, it is alleged, found his wife in company with a man named Cooper, who had formerly boarded with Timblin, and in a struggle that followed Timblin was struck on the head with a heavy glass weight and with a flat-iron and was pushed through a window. Finally wrenching himself loose from the man whom he had tried to eject from his house, Timblin rushed upstairs and secured his revolver.

Returning, he shot Cooper in the head and as Cooper staggered and turned to flee, shot him again. The first bullet struck Cooper's forehead and plowed along the skull for four inches. The second struck him in the left upper arm. Cooper is said to be from New York, and to have a wife and family. For some months he has been working at the Standard car works in this city. Timblin formerly lived at West Sunbury. He is small in stature, while his wife is a little over the average height, with a pleasing countenance.

The police were called after the shooting, and Timblin gave himself up and is now in jail. This afternoon Sheriff Gibson arrested Cooper on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill.

PASTORS ASSIGNED.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—While fishing with two companions, in a big pool below the dam at Wills Creek, Charles, the 9-year-old son of George Messaman, was drowned. The body was recovered.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Peter O'Hara, one of the victims at the Bessemer plant of the Republic Iron & Steel Company, where the explosion occurred last Sunday, is dead. O'Hara was injured at the plant. He leaves a mother, two brothers and two sisters.

YORK, PA.—While dining in the restaurant of Harry Divine, Horace Frey died of apoplexy. He was the son of the late David A. Frey, formerly editor of the Pennsylvanian. He was 56 years old and leaves an estate of about $30,000. A widow and two children survive.

ALTOONA, PA.—The corner stone of the new Blair City Methodist church at Blair Furnace, was laid by the pastor, the Rev. William L. Chilcoat. The attendance was large. Addresses were made by the Revs. C. M. Klepfer, J. K. Lloyd and E. E. Starter. The church will cost $5,000.

ALTOONA, PA.—Fitting ceremonies marked the corner stone laying at the new Grace Reformed church. The Rev. John D. Hicks, the pastor, officiated, assisted by the Revs. J. F. Moyer, Lewis Robb and J. W. Anderson. The members of the Reformed church were present. The church will cost $20,000.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Oil leases are being rapidly taken up in Coitsville township by two rival firms, and that township is likely to become a field of active operations. Two firms of operators are fighting for the lease. Regan & Vail of Pittsburgh, and another firm represented by Mr. Lloyd of Pittsburgh.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA.—A syndicate of eastern capitalists have closed a deal with Mrs. Hannah Harmon of this city for timber and coal lands in McDowell county valued at nearly $500,000. The new purchasers will begin at once the development of the tract and Mrs. Harmon will retain a good share of stock in the company.

FRANKLIN, PA.—The members of Company Sixteenth Regiment, N. G. P., have been making serious arrangements for the opening of their new armory next Monday evening. Capt. Burt S. Shafer has arranged an elaborate program which includes addresses by Maj. Gen. Charles Miller, Brig. Gen. John A. Wiley and Col. Willis J. Hulings.

CARNEGIE GIVEN SOUVENIR OF FIRST OCEAN VOYAGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—At a recent meeting of the Marine Society of New York Capt. William R. Hilton presented the society with a whale's tooth, handsomely carved, captured by the American Wiscasset in 1836. It was on this ship that Andrew Carnegie came to this country from Scotland 72 years later. The relic, with a certificate of honorary membership, has been forwarded to and accepted by Mr. Carnegie.

The exercises will be held in the High school auditorium on Thursday evening, September 17. The graduates are Mary E. Bush, Greensburg; Minnie B. Carnahan, West Newton; Elizabeth M. Barndollar, Pleasant Unity; Katherine E. Hanwalt, Ligonier, and Emma Donaldson, Wilkinsburg.

Minister's Mission Extended.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—The Rev. Geza Kaczlany, who came here last spring to take charge of the Hungarian Presbyterian mission, will leave shortly for New Jersey to enter upon his duties of evangelizing the people of his race in the United States.

WASHINGTON COUNTY TO PRODUCE MUCH COKE

The Ellworth Company Awards Contracts for Additional Ovens.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 13.—There is no longer any doubt that Washington county coal will make coke. A thorough test has been made by James W. Ellsworth & Company, at their mines near Scenery Hill, this county, and it has been determined to the satisfaction of the company that the quality of coal is equal if not superior to that of the famous fields of Fayette and Westmoreland counties for coking purposes.

The Ellsworth Company is just completing the first 100 ovens ever built in Washington county. Forty of them are producing coke which is being shipped daily to the various markets. Contracts will be let for 150 more ovens with the modern equipment. Within a year the Ellsworth Company will have sunk a half dozen additional shafts.

According to the officials of the company, within the next five years Washington county will be an active competitor of Fayette and Westmoreland counties in the manufacture of coke. The coal will be distributed to the ovens by electricity and the cost of operation will be reduced to a minimum.

WOMAN IS CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—At 2:30 o'clock this morning a verdict of manslaughter was returned in the case of Mrs. Ella Lupresco, who was charged with the murder of her husband, Harry Lupresco, at Monessen, on August 15. Judge McConnell, the counsel interested and the court officials, waited in the court room for the verdict. A finding was rendered in two hours. Mrs. Lupresco was greatly affected by the jury's finding.

DYNAMITE WAS USED TO DESTROY WATER TANK

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The big water tank used to work the coke ovens of the W. J. Rainey Coal and Coke Company, at its Union plant, was destroyed by dynamite last night. A heavy charge was placed under the tank completely shattering it. Detectives have been engaged to probe the case.

The soft, fluffy newness of blankets is retained if washed in lukewarm suds with Fels-Naptha soap. Removes all the dirt, but leaves the fabric unharmed, unshrunken.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Philadelphia at Exposition Park.
Boston at Cincinnati.
Brooklyn at Chicago.
New York at St. Louis.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—St. Louis won the opening game of a double-header here today after nine sensational innings, from New York, 2 to 1. Up to the last inning New York had the locals shut out, when a batting rally gave the home team two runs and the game.

The second game was called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness. Like the first, the second game was full of excitement. In the ninth inning the locals scored three runs after two men had been retired and averted defeat. Attendance, 6,789. Score:

PLENTY OF ATHLETICS.

New Castle Now Looks for Fast Indoor Sport.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Athletics will come to the fore more prominently than ever here this fall with the opening of the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium Monday evening. Prof. H. O. Dodge will that night examine all candidates for athletic honors and divide them into classes. The Y. M. C. A. will not likely be represented on the gridiron this fall by a distinctive football team, but its many athletes will appear with other local organizations.

However, with the approach of cold weather, an indoor basket ball league will be organized and will play for the city championship and a fine silver trophy which will be offered, as in years past. The indications are that this fall's season will be the largest in the history of the institution.

Cleveland Beaten by Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The Cleveland team of the American league played an exhibition game at Chadwick park with the Albany team of the State league today and lost by a score of 1 to 0.

The Last Niagara Falls Excursion of the Season.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will sell special excursion tickets to Niagara Falls and return at rate of $5.00, good going on Saturday, September 26, and good to return within five days. Trains leave Union station at 9 a. m. and 11:00 p. m., eastern standard time. Pullman accommodations on both trains.

BALL PLAYERS ARE VERY SUPERSTITIOUS

Ohio Works Players Who Have Peculiar Notions as to Luck on the Field.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 13.—Ball players, whether they play in the back lots or in the big leagues, have their superstitions, and all the reasoning and chaffing in the world will not cause them to change their belief. Ross Rook, who has made good this season as pitcher of the Ohio Works team, in discussing superstitions, said: "If I can only find a couple of four-leaf clovers before going into a game, I feel that I can trim anything that I am put up against. When slated to pitch I hunt for a four-leaf clover, and if I can find only one it gives me nerve enough to go in and win."

Pete Dailly, another member of the team, said: "In every game since I have been with the Ohio Works and our opponents have done any hitting, it has been in the seventh inning. At Akron they bumped me in the seventh, and at Warren they did the same. When I can get past the seventh inning I know that I have them where I want them."

"Doc" Fisher is opposed to being seventh in the batting line and said: "I can't remember when I made a hit when I came seventh in the list, and it just takes the nerve out of me to be scheduled seventh."

Benny McKee said: "I always like to be at the bat with some one on the bases, and I invariably hit better when I know it depends on my effort to make good."

WON IN THE NINTH.

Beaver Took an Exciting Game from West Lake.

The Beaver A. C. defeated the West Lake team at Island park in the most exciting game ever played there. The visitors had the home team blanked up to the fifth inning, when Montgomery hit over the dyke for a home run, but Heaver could get only one more tally up to the ninth, when West Lake had 3, and then "Lefty" Boyle relieved Donley, who had been doing very nicely, hoping to stem the tide. In Beaver's half of the ninth, after two men were out, Robinson singled and Roll walked, then Boyle hit a scorching single to left and Robinson scored the tying tally, and Roll came home a moment later on Fahrman's muff of a throw from Spahr, amid cheers from 1,000 interested spectators.

THE YOUNGWOOD FAIR.

Pittsburgh Horses Are Entered in Many Events.

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—With promises of the most successful fair in its history, the Westmoreland Agricultural society will open its annual exhibition at Youngwood Tuesday. The exhibits in the various departments in which farmers are interested will be extensive, many entries having been received during the last few days.

Particular interest centers in the races, which will be given on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Horses from Pittsburgh, Uniontown, Connellsville, Scottdale, Indiana and Latrobe, and Greensburg will have been entered for the seven races on the program. Very many of the members of the Gentlemen's Driving club of Greensburg have had their horses at the Youngwood track for a fortnight and local horsemen expect to figure in the winnings. The purses in six of the events are $200, and in the free-for-all pace or trot, which is arranged for the last event of the week, a purse of $250 is offered, and the fair directors will give $50 to the horse which breaks the track record of 2:12¼ held by Sir Alcantara. The amusement committee has granted an unusual number of privileges, and "Midway" will be a prominent feature of the fair.

Akron Won from Alliance.

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—After the close game at Akron Saturday, when Alliance and East Akron teams tied by a score of 1 to 1 in an 11-inning game stopped by darkness, Akron came here today and defeated the home team, 7 to 2, largely due to the excellent left-handed catch by Shortstop James of Alliance. Score:

Well-Known Horseman Dead.

DANVILLE, KY., Sept. 13.—A. F. Bruce, one of the best-known trotting horsemen in this state, died at his home here today of apoplexy. Mr. Bruce is a prominent Elk, and a member of Morgan's famous command during the civil war.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The DeHaven football team would like to hear from all 40 to 70-pound teams. Address J. Wilson, 2508 West Market street, Allegheny.

The North Side football team held a meeting Friday night. Grounds have been secured to play home games on, so Manager Clark would like to hear from all 50 to 65-pound teams for games. October 10 and 17 are still open and teams can arrange games by addressing 353 Hemlock street, Allegheny.

The Valley football team of McKees Rocks is preparing for an eventful season. The regular team has not yet been made up, but among the most promising candidates are the following: Weidenkoff, Jubb, Dixon, Shuck, A. Stagle and O. Stagle, Garratt, Landfeld, Sutting, Eakin, Lang, Woessner, Dagg and Follett.

The Pastime Reserves have organized for the season and are ready to meet all good 70 to 75-pound teams that are out for the championship. The candidates for this team are requested to report for practice Tuesday evening at Central park. For games address manager, J. P. Moore, 2012 Bedford avenue, city.

THIS GAME WILL BE FIGHT TO THE FINISH

Washington and Greene Counties to Have Holiday and Turn Out to See Rival Teams Play.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 13.—Word was received here tonight from the Greene county capital that more than 500 rooters will come to Washington tomorrow to see the game of baseball between the rival teams. Washington is practically baseball crazy over the coming game and money by the hundreds of dollars is being gathered in ready to wager on the outcome.

The Washington team, it is admitted, was organized for the purpose of defeating Washington and Homestead. Homestead took the series from them and they are determined to get even by batting Washington. "Kid" Williams, who defeated Washington twice this year, will pitch for the visitors, and Greene county is placing all her hopes in him and consequently is ready to back their team to the limit.

Preparations have been made at College park for an enormous crowd, and it is probable that the game will be played on the field in the morning. At the last game between these two teams 3,000 people attended and fully as large a crowd is looked for tomorrow afternoon. Manager Brownlee of the Washington team has refused to say who would pitch for the locals, but it is believed that it will be one of the regular staff of pitchers, probably Springer, the McDonald boy, who defeated Waynesburg in the one game here last Monday. All the neighboring towns are preparing to send delegations of rooters.

The majority of the players from last year's Washington and Jefferson football team are back in Washington ready for the initial practice for College park tomorrow. The coaches and captains have everything in readiness and the men will be given their first work tomorrow according to schedule. Capt. Hayes stated today that if the wet weather of yesterday and today continued practice would necessarily be light, but that there would be some work nevertheless. The practice tomorrow will consist of the usual preliminary work, such as kicking, falling on the ball and tackling the dummy. The first line-up with the scrub will not be for at least a week yet.

It was learned last night that Winham, the Pirates' left-hander, who has shown such clever work in the league games already pitched, has been loaned to the Washington club for today's game, and Weaver, the Pirates' extra catcher, will likely accompany him, and the pair will form the battery for Manager Brownlee's team.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE BATTERS TAKE A SLUMP

Only Twelve Players in the .300 Class of Hitters—Ex-Pirates Not Among Them.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—The latest returns pertaining to the averages of the American league indicate that Napoleon Lajoie will land the batting championship of that organization.

As the season has progressed Lajoie has become stronger and stronger with the stick, while those who went to the front early in the fray have fallen to a decided slump. The figures show which way the wind is blowing, and unless some of the players now close on Lajoie's heels take a decided brace in their work, the famous player will win the honor hands down. Lajoie's nearest rival for leadership among the batters is none other than Dougherty of Boston, who agreed to come to Cincinnati, and then went back on his word. Dougherty is 16 points behind the Frenchman and is slugging away with the same consistency which has marked his work since the season opened. Close up to Dougherty and ranking third in the race is Sam Crawford of Detroit, an ex-Red, who signed with the Tigers under cover, and then kicked himself for not being open and frank with President Herrmann, of the Cincinnati club. Barrett of Detroit, another ex-Red, follows Crawford, and is coming along at a rate which will compel the other fellows to do a little sprinting to keep in front.

The followers of the American aggregation will in all probability set their think tanks working overtime, when they note how many batters are in the .300 class. Rabid partisans will likely let out a howl about figure juggling, and declare that there must be some mistake. During the past month there have only been 14 players in the select bingle society. Two have fallen by the wayside, and two of the present batting list will have to figure three by the skin of their teeth, while three others of the present push have their nose barely over the much-desired mark. Out of this measly number of stars Philadelphia claims three, Detroit three, Boston, Cleveland two, and Chicago and New York one each. Neither St. Louis nor Washington has a sticker up among the big guns. Burkett is the only Brownie with respectable looking figures, while Orth of Washington, a pitcher at that, leads his associates.

Flank of Philadelphia, holds the honor of being the best fielding twirler in the American league, notwithstanding that both Powell and Deering of New York, are still without an error.

Kittridge of Washington, the Boston National league cast-off, is still leading the catchers, Clarke of the same team, tops the first basemen, Long of Detroit, who leads in that class. The Cleveland Washingtons are shown again in front with Moran showing his heels to all the shortstops. Jones of Chicago, is the premier outfielder, with Ryan of Washington and Stahl of Boston seconds. Fultz and Conroy of New York, and Holmes of Chicago, are hustling for the base-running honors. Bay of Cleveland, has stolen more bags than the above three, but has played in more games, a fact which will drop him down the percentage table.

Freeman of Boston, has never been headed as the boss slugger of the league, but is now being hard pressed by both Hickman and Stricklett of Cleveland. Detroit leads in club batting, Boston in fielding and in long hits by clubs. The figures:

TO BEAT DILLON'S MARK.

Major Delmar to Make the Try on Empire Track.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—By his wonderful performance at Syracuse, when he trotted a mile in 2:00¼, Major Delmar appears to be a formidable candidate for the two minute honors held by Lou Dillon. Having eclipsed the best time made by The Abbott and by Crescens, the only mark for the "iron horse" is the even time set by the chestnut mare.

His next attempt will be over the lightning fast Empire City track, Yonkers, New York, on September 24, the second day of the fall meeting, where Alix McDonald, the driver, is confident of stepping figures for the mile which will equal and perhaps excel the great effort of Lou Dillon.

YOUNG BIRDS' FLIGHT.

Allegheny Homers Make Fine Display of Speed.

The Allegheny district of the National Association of A. M. H. P. F. held their second young bird race of the season from Painesville, Ohio, air line distant, 150 miles. The birds were liberated by Mr. O. W. Southerland at 9 a. m., eastern time; west wind. The first to report was G. Jubion with No. 18,472 at 12:24:30, making an average speed of 1,170.57. Second, G. Jubion with No. 18,420 at 12:36:20; speed, 1,150.65 yards per minute. Third, John Tuss with No. 17,656, at 12:37:40; speed 1,150.09 yards per minute. Fourth, Mc. Claim to Be Champions.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The baseball championship of this county is now claimed by the New Castle Athletics, who have just been reorganized after having practically disbanded early in the spring. The Athletics won the championship of the county last season and also the number before, and they claim it until it is wrested from them on the diamond. John B. Dennis, who formerly led the Athletics to victory, has been elected captain and manager. Many of the new Athletics have played with the New Castle United States Steel team, and the others have been playing with the Shenango Athletics. The new team will be one of the strongest independent organizations that ever represented the city on the diamond.

Creature's most, is all life, action, fire! No wonder ever audiences never tire of it. His closes positively tomorrow night. Come early and often.

LIBERAL BUYERS SPEND A BILLION

MANY OF THEM ARE WOMEN

Feminine Representatives of Stores Elsewhere Stop at Hotels Because of the Convenience—75,000 Buyers of Fall Goods in New York This Summer.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

It is estimated that out-of-town buyers have increased New York's total business this year by pretty close to $1,000,000,000. It has been a record-breaking year both as to the number of buyers in town and the amount of their orders. This year also a larger proportion have brought their wives and daughters. So that the retailers, as well as the wholesalers, are rejoicing. Most of this influx is due to the Merchants' association, which has secured special railroad rates, and made New York so attractive to the out-of-town business man that he has this season passed by Philadelphia and Baltimore and Boston, and other eastern centers.

For instance, the association secured a one and one-third fare round trip from all points east of the Mississippi and in Texas for buyers who would come to New York. The New England Passenger association, presumably with an idea of diverting from New England trade to Boston, refused to make any such terms. So did the Southeastern Passenger association, with an eye doubtless to the interests of Philadelphia and Baltimore. But the rush of business to the metropolis was irresistible and the New York Central and the Southeastern roads admit that they have never before brought such an influx of merchants from their respective districts.

It is estimated that there have been easily 75,000 buyers for the fall trade here during the summer, about 10 per cent of them being women. In all lines the importance of the woman buyer is being felt more and more each year. And where 10 years ago, 90 per cent of them would have arranged to stay with a friend or at most to patronize some boarding house recommended by kinfolk or friends, now 90 per cent of them register at hotels, preferring the greater freedom to attend to business which hotel life gives.

Of the masculine contingent a very large number have brought their families or one or more members thereof. The average buyer purchases about $12,500 worth of goods. Many, of course, buy much more—$75,000 worth, or even double that amount—and representatives of the big firms from the by cities, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Columbus, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Detroit, etc., frequently place orders for some $500,000 to $1,000,000 worth of goods. But taking them all in all, they probably average $10,000 and that for the 75,000 that it is estimated have been in town this season, makes a total of $750,000,000 spent in the city. And that is only what they have laid out in stock. Their personal expenditures amount up to a considerable sum. Possibly the average buyer does not spend more than $5 a day. Few spend much less, and to many that would be a mere bagatelle. But that means, admitting that each came alone and stayed but one day, a total of $800,000 for the personal expenses of this year's buyers' pilgrimage.

As a matter of fact, the total is probably four or five times that amount. So the billion-dollar estimate comes pretty close to it.

CREATORE GOES TOMORROW

Bandmaster Will Leave the Exposition—Italian Music This Evening.

Only one more day besides this one will Creatore, the bandmaster, be seen at the New Exposition. He positively gives his final concert at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. Tonight the Italians from every part of Allegheny county will be in evidence at the Exposition buildings as testimonials of high esteem to their gifted musical countryman, Creatore, who has given us both programs to some of Italy's grandest masterpieces. Other admirers of the deeply emotional bandmaster, likewise, will be out in force all through the day, and this evening will swell the attending crowds into the population of a good-sized city. The day's musical programs follow:

2 P. M.

March, "Tossing Hearts" ..... Creatore
Overture, "Zampa" ..... Herold
Intermezzo, "Toni di Ball" ..... Faller
Intermezzo, "Passacille" ..... Grieg
Selection from "Faust" ..... Gounod

4:00 P. M.

March, "Diamond Medal" ..... Engelmann
"Ride of the Walkeure" ..... Wagner
"Largo" ..... Handel
Mazurka, "La Czarina" ..... Ganne
Selection from "Aida" ..... Verdi

7:30 P. M.

March, "American Navy" ..... Creatore
Overture, "Nabucco" ..... Verdi
Intermezzo, "Cavalleria Rusticana" ..... Mascagni
Third Act from "Boheme" ..... Puccini

9:30 P. M.

Selection, "La Sonnambula" ..... Bellini
Solos by Sig. Pierno and Croce.
Soprano Solo, "Polonia," from "Convito Patrie" from the "Daughter of the Regiment" ..... Donizetti
Mme. Barili.
Funeral March ..... Creatore
Grand Selection, "Mefistofele" ..... Bollo
Solos by Sig. Pierno and Croce.

PETER'S LIFE IN DANGER.

New King of Servia Dare Not Reign and Daily Fears Assassination.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—(Special Cable.)—A letter from Belgrade states that King Peter of Servia is becoming daily more unpopular and that only the fear of assassination keeps him from resigning. The army, upon whose support he had surely counted, does not try to conceal its contempt of him, and a plot to murder all the officials who took part in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga was discovered a few days ago and 20 army officers were arrested. The King is inclined to punish the conspirators, but fears for his own life should he try to do so. He is being constantly watched by the murderers of his predecessors, who have made him understand that if he tries to resign or leave the country he will be shot down immediately. Much concern is felt in political and diplomatic circles of Vienna as to the outlook in Servia, and a new revolution would surprise nobody here.

Fined for Threatening to Kill.

George Young was fined $50 and costs today for pointing a loaded revolver at Edward Reed and threatening to kill him. The evidence seemed conclusive, and Alderman Kirby gave the defendant a hearing.

DYNAMITE CAR EXPLODES, KILLING TWO TRAINMEN

Three Others Are Injured and Considerable Property Destroyed in Michigan.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BAY CITY, MICH., Sept. 13.—Clarence D. Hopper and Roy Boucher, switchmen of the Michigan Central railroad, were instantly killed by an explosion of dynamite in a car in the yards at West Bay City today. Robert Rubin, engineer, William Noble, fireman, and John Crackle, conductor, were injured, the latter so severely that he may die. All of the trainmen were residents of this city.

The explosion occurred as a switch engine was making up a train. The engine backed down upon several cars, the first containing 1,600 pounds of dynamite, a consignment of Lee Matford, rifles and a quantity of reduced charge shells for indoor rifle practice, and it is said that the force with which it struck the explosive-laden car exploded the dynamite.

Hopper's body was badly cut by flying steel and Boucher was decapitated, his body being horribly mangled. A big hole was torn in the ground by the explosive, a score of freight cars, many loaded, were demolished and nearly 300 houses in the vicinity suffered broken windows and several were so badly wrecked as to be uninhabitable. The shock was felt in Essexville, three miles from the scene.

PERSONALS

The New York Life Insurance Company officials are conducting a tour to the members who have written $500,000 business during the past year. The tour includes all places of interest between New York and Colorado Springs. The train, consisting of nine cars, passed through the city last night, arriving here at 11 o'clock. It left for Chicago to the Pennsylvania Limited. No one in Pittsburgh were sufficient business to entitle him to the tour, but H. Humbert of Parkesburg, was included in the list. He came to the city early in the evening and boarded the train at the Union station.

A large party of Pittsburghers spent yesterday at Valley Camp, attending the camp-meeting. Seven coach loads returned last evening.

Capt. Charles C. McClain and family, who are located in Lucena, Tayabas, Philippine Islands, have notified friends in Wilkinsburg that they will return to the country some time this fall or early next spring. Capt. McClain has an important position in the province of Tayabas, but will have to give up his position on account of ill health, and come home to recuperate. He has been in the Philippines five years, and the climate is gradually undermining his health. Capt. McClain is a former well known resident and ex-burgess of Wilkinsburg, being the only Democrat who ever became captain of Company A, Fourteenth regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, which was then located in Wilkinsburg. Later he was appointed to a captaincy in the regular army and sent to the Philippines. His friends in Wilkinsburg will tender him a reception on his return home.

Wilkinsburg has come forward with a candidate for a place on the advisory board of the Pennsylvania railroad relief department. A. D. Sofield of Swissvale applied for the railroad company at Wilkinsburg this week, and a form will this week begin an active campaign. The election is held by the employes who are members of the relief department, and will take place in November. For many years prior to Mr. Borland's appointment as agent in Wilkinsburg he was a passenger conductor.

PRIEST LEAVES BRADDOCK.

Father Burgoon Will Go Tomorrow to Take Charge at Bellevernon.

The Rev. Father Joseph Burgoon, assistant pastor to the Very Rev. Father John Hickey, pastor of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church of Braddock, the past four years, has been appointed by Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese to the charge at Bellevernon, Pa., and will leave for his new field of labor tomorrow. Father Burgoon will have charge of the Bellevernon pastorate and also a new mission which has been organized but a short time in one of the small towns adjacent to Bellevernon.

The Rev. L. A. Carroll of Irwin is the new appointee to the assistant rectorship of St. Thomas' church. Father Carroll went to Braddock several days ago, and when leaving Irwin was given a set of resolutions drafted by the members of the congregation, expressing their regret at his departure. He did excellent work among the Slavs at Export, near Irwin.

We have the best shops in this country—best tools, best class of workmanship, most steady employment. We pay hourly wage rates as high as any other shops in this district, which is probably the highest paid district in the United States. Our hourly wage rate varies from 37½ cents per hour down to 25½ cents per hour, to be individually adjusted according to each man's ability. For certain larger machine tools we pay even higher hourly rates.

In addition we do much of our machine work at piece rates, which enables an active man to earn very large wages. During May and June just passed, 20 of our machinists averaged to earn $116.00 per month per man.

The above application is now on file in the prothonotary's office. JOHN M. HAVERTY, solicitor.

J. F. WALLACE, Attorney-at-Law, Frick Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania on Friday, the 18th day of September, 1903, by Fred G. Litt, Frank E. Litt and J. H. Lindsay, under the act of assembly entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation to be called "Litt Iron Company," the character and object of which is for the purpose of buying, selling and dealing in lumber and builders' supplies, and for these purposes to have, possess and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of said act of assembly and supplements thereto. J. F. Wallace, solicitor.

NOTICE is hereby given that letters testamentary on the estate of Joseph Campbell, deceased, late of Allegheny county, have been granted to the undersigned, to whom all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims or demands against the same will make them known without delay. J. J. Campbell, executor, Cuddy P. O., Pa.

SOME THINGS WE ARE FORGETTING

Truths Preached by Pastor Young on Second Anniversary of McKinley's Death.

LEGISLATORS ARE SCORED

Ease With Which Assassins Can Get at Our High Officials Is Deprecated. More Restrictions Should Be Placed on Immigration—Dangers of the Future.

"The Second Anniversary of McKinley's Death—Some Things We Are Forgetting," was the subject of the sermon of Pastor S. Edward Young of the Second Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, last evening. The text was Deuteronomy iv:9. "Keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life; but teach them to thy sons and thy sons' sons." The speaker said in part:

Two years ago tonight passed from earth the most loved ruler that day alive in the world—William McKinley. What surges of sorrow rolled from the Atlantic to the Pacific? What vows were uttered everywhere pledging the republic's chief magistrate supreme protection from any Wilkes Booth or Guiteau or Czolgosz plotting the president's taking off? How the anti-assassin, anti-anarchist legislation flooded the press and poured into congress! Which bill has become law? Not one.

Where are the enactments proposed by ex-Attorney Generals Miller and Griggs and Attorney General Knox? Dead as martyred McKinley, every one of these Shylocks in would-be president murderer up to Sycamore Hill the other evening to be plucked from his purpose barely in the nick of time. Let the next one in at some reception, Exultantly the leading poet-president of Constantinople reminded me as we sailed the Bosphorus that their sultan, Abdul Hamid, had lived scarce whits two American presidents were shot down.

One July night I asked a neighbor coming from McKinley's porch, "What is to prevent my walking up there and shooting him?" "Nothing," replied he. Eight weeks from that day I uncovered as McKinley's casket passed from that porch, and since then I have watched thousands of immigrants embarking at European ports, many bringing those same anarchistic teachings.

For our nation's sake, wake up half somebody. The climbs truth in that from the Mckinley grief till now Americans, legislators and all, have been too hopelessly impressed by the prevailing topic heed to anything less than the blast of Gabriel's trump. Which public man will dare shelve himself politically or championing an anti-immigration law, admitting the useful classes and barring the foul? Let his silence be golden, but bye and bye monuments. God spare the republic. God spare Pittsburgh a time of financial panic with these vast hordes of unassimilated foreigners when we are furnishing the bulk of our criminal cases, ready for riot and bloodshed. Will each of you go and see for yourself the non-English speaking multitudes in the over-crowded dwellings and in all their unsanitary, un-American surroundings?

RELATION OF GOD TO THE WORLD IS NOT DISTANT

The Rev. W. R. Thompson Tells How Near the Master Is at All Times.

The sermon by the Rev. W. R. Thompson of the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, yesterday was based on Acts x:1-2: "A devout man and one that feared God with all his house, which gave much alms to the people, and prayed to God always." The subject was "Cornelius as a Seeking, Finding Soul." Among other things the speaker said:

The sacred scriptures teach us that the relation of God to the world is not a distant relation, but one very near—not one in which He will seem like He has thrown the world out from His creative hand, allowing it to get on as best it can and being guided by reckless chance.

Assuredly we cannot believe, in the face of revelation and providence, as some profess to believe, that the chasm between this world and the throne of God is so wide that His power cannot span it, or man's thoughts traverse it. We are told that He who fills immensity with his presence, sitting on the throne reigns in the whole universe.

As has been said of Him, "There is a mode of inspiration of the nature with the Creature with His—His serenity amid our griefs —His sanctity amid our guilt—His watchfulness amid our sleep—His life through our death—His silence amid our stormy fores."

The soul may enjoy holy personal relations with God, find God, know God, be conscious of God. God will cease to be Himself when such a devout, reverent, pantting, praying, adoring, confessing soul shall not after such seeking find Him.

THE SUPREME TEST IS OUR EVERY-DAY LIFE

Spirit of Christ Is Explained in Sermon by the Rev. W. J. Russell.

The Rev. W. J. Russell, pastor of the East End Christian church, preached yesterday morning on "The Supreme Test," taking for his text, "If any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his."—Rom. 8:9x. He said in part:

This sentence is marked by a striking tone of finality. By it each one can determine for himself his future destiny. In the effort of certaining what is meant by the spirit of Christ, let us noticed: It is not a fault-finding spirit, a murmuring spirit, a criticising spirit, a selfish spirit, a proud spirit or a worldly spirit.

It is the spirit of forebearance. We cannot all be alike in ideas, tastes and dispositions—hence the necessity for the law of forbearance. If we resent every apparent injustice, demand the righting of every little wrong, and inflict condign punishing our feelings at every infinitesimal annoyance, and if all the other parties in the circle claim the same privilege, what miserable beings we should all be, and how wretched life will become. But there is a more excellent way and that is the way of love.

"If ye have been raised together with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is. Set your mind on the things that are above, not upon the things that are upon the earth."—Col. 3, 1, 2.

LESSON FOR ALL OF US.

What Dr. Stutz Says We Can Learn from Experience of Ancient Jews.

"Lessons from Kadesh-Barnea" was the subject of the sermon preached by Dr. W. R. Stutz of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist church yesterday morning. The text was: "And we came to Kadesh-Barnea."—Deut. 1:19. The speaker said in part:

This incident in the history of the Hebrew people teaches many valuable lessons. A crisis had been reached in the journey. They failed to pass into Canaan because their former conduct had robbed them of moral courage that explains largely why so many men fail when they reach some decisive critical turning of life. There is a public that is so absorbed in the affairs of moral life as the habit of pursuing and contemplating. Many a man has come to the days of decision [illegible] because he lacked the power of decision.

Every Christian believer has come or is coming to Kadesh Barnea. Are we brave and strong enough to pay the price which brings the victory?

NEW CONGREGATION FOR RANKIN AND SWISSVALE

Services Were Held Yesterday in the McCook Mansion by Father O'Connell—Meetings This Week to Complete Plans.

A new congregation was formed and a new parish was organized yesterday morning for the Roman Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh by members of St. Brendan's Roman Catholic church of Holland avenue, Braddock, and of St. James' Roman Catholic church of Wilkinsburg. The first mass was solemnized in the large reception hall and parlors, throw-into-one hall, at the handsome old family residence of Attorney Willis F. McCook, on the Braddock road, Swissvale, before a congregation of almost 400 worshippers, by the Rev. Father Daniel O'Connell, the new pastor of the congregation, who was appointed by the Rt. Rev. J. W. Regis Canevin, coadjutor bishop of Pittsburgh. The service was impressive and at the close Father O'Connell greeted all the members of what is to become henceforth his new congregation. He was given a warm welcome in return.

Bishop Canevin made a short address to the congregation, saying he hoped the members would soon be able to lay the cornerstone of their new church. Father O'Connell is a young priest, formerly of Ellwood City, Pa. From St. James' church, Wilkinsburg, of which the Rev. Father A. A. Lambing is pastor, the new church will draw about 38 families, while St. Brendan's parish, at Braddock, the Rev. Father Patrick Molyneaux, pastor, will lose about 45 families.

The new parish will include all the territory north of the Pennsylvania railroad, from Ormond street Swissvale on the east, to the Duquesne sliding near Edgewood station on the west, Braddock to Hutchinson street on the west, along the Monongahela river from Fernehff holiow to Nine-mile run on the south, thence north to Hannastown road. The new parish was a necessity for North Rankin and Swissvale.

Tonight the women of the new parish will meet in the McCook mansion and draw up plans for a devotion society, and Wednesday night the men will gather to organize the parish and likely elect a board of trustees. The next services will be held in the McCook home, although at the meeting Wednesday a committee will be appointed to secure a hall until a church can be built.

CREED OF A GENTLEMAN THE THEME OF SERMON

Rev. Dr. McEwan Finds It Laid Down in the Fifteenth Psalm.

The Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue and South Negley, preached last evening on "The Creed of a Gentleman." The text was taken from Psalm 15:1, "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in thy holy hill?" After reading the Fifteenth Psalm, Dr. McEwan said in part:

A lady taught this psalm to her sons and made them repeat it to her every day. She called it "the creed of a gentleman." The psalm is a description of an ideal gentleman. It would not do for a Christian's creed, as it makes no mention of duties to our Heavenly Father. With Christianity it makes an admirable rule.

His first verse asks the question of the text, and the second verse answers it. "He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart." The remainder of the psalm is an expansion of the answer. It requires a man to be chaste of heart, free from crookedness, honest and considerate of others. The man who walketh uprightly receives not be bribed or frightened or silent in the face of unrighteousness and wickedness. He speaketh truth in his heart. His thoughts are honest. A gentleman is honest with his tongue. It is a rule of conduct in good society to abstain from conversation that would lead to backbiting. He does unto others as he would have them do unto him. He does not take up reproach, and will not repeat slanders. Moreover, a vile person is condemned in the eyes of a gentleman, and he honors them that fear the Lord. To live with wickedness and encourage evil doing is evil in itself.

The righteous man putteth not out his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. He will not require an interest that would grieve or impoverish the poor. The righteous man shall never be moved, for the Lord loveth such a man. It is not he that professes these things, but he that doeth them. To live up to a gentleman's creed requires one to have Christian grace. How can I obtain these things" is often asked. They can be obtained by the power of Jesus Christ and only by His help. To keep the gentleman's creed, you need the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

SYNAGOGUE DEDICATED BEFORE LARGE CROWD

New Place of Worship for Jewish Families of the Hill District.

The new synagogue of the congregation Ohel Jacob, on Roberts street, near Center avenue, was dedicated yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was witnessed by about 2,000 people. Previous to the dedication there was a parade of Jewish societies in which nearly 1,000 men participated.

The members of the congregation assembled at 1:30 at the Sharra Torah synagogue, in Townsend street, where Rabbi M. F. Sivitz addressed them in Yiddish. The parade then formed and, headed by a brass band, marched through the principal streets of the hill district to the new synagogue. Among the societies taking part were Giperath Zion society, Roumanian Libanian society and the United Roumanian society. Attorney A. C. Stein acted as master of ceremonies at the dedication, and the dedicatory address was delivered by Rabbi J. Leonard Levy of the Eighth Street synagogue.

Rabbi Levy spoke in English and told of the deep-rooted faith of the Jew in his religion despite the persecutions met with. He extolled the religion of the Jew, and contended that it is the only true belief.

The synagogue was dedicated by Rabbi M. F. Sivitz of the Sharra Torah synagogue, who will also act as rabbi of the new church.

The new synagogue is a handsome structure of Pompeiian brick and stone, and was erected at a cost of $25,000. The congregation numbers about 200 families and is composed almost exclusively of Roumanian Jews.

LIFE'S INTERRUPTIONS.

Rev. Jayne Says Reward Is Always in Store for Those Who Help Out Others.

At the Observatory Hill Christian church yesterday morning the Rev. John A. Jayne preached on "Life's Interruptions," his text being Luke xxiv:32: "Did not our hearts burn in us as he talked with us by the way and interpreted to us the scriptures?" He said in part:

From the attitude of the two disciples as they went from Jerusalem to Emmaus, that warm summer afternoon 1,900 years ago, it is evident they regarded the interruption of the Master as an intrusion. But in the performance of duty and obedience to the call of sorrow they found the Christ and knew Him as their Master. Both history and experience testify to the fact that not in the past, but in present action do sorrowing people find help. And he who does help a brother in need, he who does assist a fallen brother, even though his own heart be breaking, finds a new resurrection morning in his own life. He finds the Christ.

VETERANS' REUNION.

Members of Two Regiments of the Civil War Will Assemble Next Thursday.

A reunion of the Seventy-seventh and Seventy-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteer regiments will be held in the Union Veteran Legion hall, No. 223 Fifth avenue, next Thursday. The Seventy-seventh was organized in Pittsburgh, the members principally residing on the South Side. They formed at Camp Wilkins and marched to the Allegheny park or October 18, 1861, where they received their colors.

The regiment left on six steamboats for Louisville. Col. Frederick S. Stambaugh of Chambersburg commanded the regiment. While in Kentucky he was transferred and Lieut. Peter R. Hauson was appointed his successor. Hauson was killed in the battle of Shiloh and Col. Thomas E. Rose, now of Baltimore, took charge.

The Seventy-seventh, Seventy-eighth and Seventy-ninth regiments were formed into a brigade known as the Negley brigade. After the war the Seventy-seventh regiment was ordered to Texas to oppose Maximilian. They left Louisville by boat and went to New Orleans where a small ship took them across the gulf. That was the only way at that time to reach Texas. During the life of the regiment over 4,000 miles of ground was marched over and three times that distance they rode.

SIN IN SEED, AND THE BLOOM AND FRUITAGE

Dangers of First Step in Wickedness Shown by Pastor Updegraph.

The Rev. J. L. Updegraph, pastor of the Church of God, College avenue and Spahr street, last evening preached on "Sin in Seed, Bloom and Fruitage." Text, "The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed forever. And he went out from his presence a lepar as white as snow." Two Kings, 5:27. The speaker in part said:

Elisha would take no reward of Naaman for his cure, lest the gift of God be considered purchaseable. Gehazi, Elisha's servant, is not so careful of the honor of Jehovah. He thought, "My master hath spared Naaman . . . I will run after him and take some what of him."

This evil thought, "sin in seed." Gehazi followed after and had the honor of seeing Naaman coming down to him, and a little received about 240 pounds of silver, two changes of garments, and had the satisfaction of feeling rich and think of the olive yards, vineyards, flocks and herds and servants he should soon call his own. "Sin in bloom."

A guilty conscience, leading to secreting the goods in the tower, or secret place, for sin loves secrecy and darkness, detection followed by his master, and sentence. "The leprosy of Naaman shall cleave unto thee and unto thy seed forever, the executive." He went out a leper, "sin in fruitage."

Perhaps you think the punishment too great. Notice the sin. Covetousness, vanity, pride, lying, theft, sells treasure, dishonoring Elisha and his God. But now just look at the innocent posterity. Simply the consequence of being engendered by a leprous father. Seed—A boy dreams of the delights of an occasional glass. Bloom—Takes the first glass, enjoys the convivial companionship. Fruitage—Wallows in the gutter, hears the sentence, "The leprosy of drunkenness shall cleave to thee and thy seed," bears his doom, "No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of heaven."

Notwithstanding the "Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy," men think of the added wealth of working, running their mills and trains, selling soda, lots, etc., pleasures of an outing—seed. He enjoys the wealth and pleasure, bloom. He sinks down in health, physical and moral, lpses his soul—fruitage. "What shall it profit?"

The same development is found in infidelity, profanity, theft, murder, etc. Don't allow the seed to sprout.

Dedicate New Organ.

The $8,000 organ of the St. Stephen's Magyar Catholic church in McKeesport was dedicated yesterday morning. The organ was bought with $1,500 contributed by Andrew Carnegie and $1,000 contributed by the congregation. Before the dedication a parade was held, in which fully 5,000 men marched. The church is the only Magyar Catholic church in Western Pennsylvania and many foreigners from all parts of Western Pennsylvania witnessed the ceremonies.

Lutheran Anniversary Services.

Commemorating the date of the organization of Mt. Calvary Congregational Lutheran church, in 1853, services in continuation of those held last Sunday were held yesterday in the Mission church, McKees Rocks. The Rev. Dr. H. W. Roth, director of the Passavant hospital, Pittsburgh, preached at the morning service, and the Rev. Dr. J. C. Kungman of Greensburg, preached the evening sermon.

GETTING READY FOR BIG CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW

Workmen at Schenley Park Conservatory Busy Arranging for the Display of 15,000 of the Flowers Next Month.

The chrysanthemum show, which takes place next month in Schenley park, is keeping the officials and workmen about the Phipps conservatory busy in making preparations. Buds are beginning to appear in hundreds of the 15,000 chrysanthemums which will be on exhibition at the display. There are more of them this year than ever before. The Royal water lilies and the Lorraine begonias are blooming. These beautiful flowers were the center of attraction at the conservatory yesterday afternoon.

Superintendent of Parks George W. Burke said yesterday that estimates for furnishing the three new speller houses, one at West End, one at the Schenley park race track and the other in Highland park, would be made this week. Ground is being prepared along the bridal path in Schenley park for the planting of shrubbery and herbaceous plants. This, it is thought, will improve the path and add much to the appearance of the park.

Four donations were made to the collection of animals at the Highland park zoo last week. The gift and the givers are: Black diamond rattle snake, H. A. Gatrell, Fairmont, W. Va.; flying squirrel, Helen M. McCance, Thomas street, East End; groundhog, Joseph D. Easter, No. 312 South St. Clair street, East End; black snake, J. C. Reynolds, No. 83 Grandview avenue, Braddock. Head Keeper Ernest Tretow says the animals are all good specimens. The flying squirrel is particularly prized.

William Bartell of New York city is expected in this city this week to confer with the park officials about the contemplated exchange of animals. Some arrangements will probably be made for a satisfactory disposal of the beasts of which the local zoo has a surplus, and some new specimens will be received in their place.

The crowds at the various parks yesterday were not very large. As usual, Highland park drew the largest crowd, as people never tire of visiting the zoo.

CROWDS ENTERTAINED AT THE TRACTION PARKS

Good Music and Vaudeville at Kennywood, Southern, Calhoun and Oakwood.

The traction parks yesterday and last evening were visited by the crowds who desired to avoid the heat of the city. Good bills of entertainment were offered by the traction management, including band concerts and a long list of special features.

Kennywood had immense crowds all day and evening. A fine vaudeville bill was offered and seemed to be thoroughly appreciated. Besides band concerts there were six good turns of vaudeville artists. Charles Schaffer, the tenor, was well received, and Miss Louise Stevens, the violinist, came in for her share of the applause, while Dorothy Dumont, who has for several weeks been pleasing Kennywood audiences, received rounds of applause. The Lone Star quartet sang several songs that were pleasing, and E. R. Sherry sang a number of illustrated songs.

Calhoun park had the Third Regiment band and the Colonial Comedy Four, composed of L. C. McLaughlin, Howard J. Collins, James O'Brien and H. T. Hamilton. The band program was well played.

Oakwood park had the Knights of Pythias band, H. F. Blaney, the well-known singer, was there and sang several songs that brought forth enthusiastic applause, while little Marjory Barrett, the child artist, proved an attractive feature of the bill. Charles Galbraith, who is to join Vogel's minstrels, was on the programme, and his singing was all that could be expected.

The Homestead Library band gave both concerts at Southern park, and the efforts of the musicians were greeted with rounds of applause. There were four soloists, members of the organization, one of whom was Director Edwin B. Delp, who played a fine euphonium solo. The H. J. Lindsay quartet did well. The parks will probably keep open on Sundays until after the first Monday of October.

MILKMAN HELD UP BY NEGRO ON BUTLER ROAD

Highwayman Got $16 50, but Was Shortly Afterward Caught After a Chase.

As M. E. Burkhart, a milk dealer, was driving along the Butler plank road, near the Rising Sun road house, between Millvale and Etna, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, a negro jumped from the side of the road, grabbed the horse's bridle and compelled Mr. Burkhart to give up the amount of the day's collections. The man got $16 50 and then run off over the hills.

The milkman reported his loss to residents of the neighborhood, who organized a posse and started to chase the highwayman. He was overtaken on a hill overlooking Etna by Frank Huesman and Leo Farnerie, both of the Butler plank road. The negro started to run, and when he saw his pursuers were gaining on him he stopped and showed fight, picking up clubs and stones to keep off his pursuers. Farnerie drew a revolver and pointed it at the negro, ordering him to surrender. The man surrendered and was marched into Etna, where he was turned over to the Etna police. He will have a hearing this morning on a charge of highway robbery.

Large Number of New Church Members.

The Rev. Dr. Willis F. Fitt Turner yesterday morning at 10:45 o'clock, received 78 members into full membership in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Burton street, Braddock, that being the largest number that was ever received into any church in that section at one time. Almost all were young folks and adults, few children being among the number. The large class was principally the result of an earnest revival conducted by Dr. Turner early in the spring.

You'd Like to Have Oriental Rugs

But Then They Cost So Much—Well, That Depends.

Every housekeeper realizes the refinement and elegance that Oriental rugs add to a home—she knows, too, that it is elegance that endures—for no other floor covering approaches at all in durability and lasting beauty the rugs and carpets that come to us from Sunrise land.

True, first cost may be excessive—it depends on where you buy—fictitious values and enormous profits rule in many establishments—but not here. We sell oriental rugs just as we sell carpets, or draperies, on a fair commercial basis—for just what they are worth and no more. And then, once a year, we hold an

Opening Sale Of Oriental Rugs

This welcome occasion will continue all this week—

In the showing you'll find Persian, Turkish and India Carpets in all the famous weaves. Rarely beautiful specimens of Oriental art, including such well known qualities as Kirmenshah, Tabriz, Khorassan, Meshet, Savolan, Ounshak, Kassaba and others.

These come in carpets of all sizes, hall and stair patterns, medium and small rugs.

DULLNESS ATTRIBUTED TO LOSS OF CONFIDECE

Lack of Credit Facilities and Depleted Resources Kept the Public Out of the Stock Market.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The prerequisites of a revival of speculative activity or the inception of healthful investment demand for securities are two in number. They embody the complete restoration of confidence and the availability of abundant credit facilities. It cannot at the present time be said that the community possesses or has at its command either essential to a degree sufficient to foreshadow any immediate change in existing stock market conditions. So far as Wall street is concerned, the public is a negligible quantity, and such funds as are available are not at the disposal of speculators, but are carefully conserved for the mercantile and manufacturing community.

In view of some recent developments it is not much to be wondered at that the community is entirely out of concert with Wall street. The heavy losses sustained through declines of vast extent, spreading over the period of a year, are not made up or forgotten in a week or a month. An important element to which the brokerage houses looked for business is exhausted financially and has got to undergo a process of recuperation.

Just at present there is an element in the financial district which expresses wonder and surprise that favorable news developments, such as satisfactory reports of railroad earnings, a better condition of crops than had been anticipated, improvement in some phases of the labor situation and the like, fail to utterly lure the public back to the market or stimulate speculative activity.

It is small wonder, however, in view of the heavy losses sustained and the overthrow of confidence, that the public should hold aloof. The man who is well-nigh bankrupt and whose credit is curtailed cannot buy, no matter how attractive prices may appear or how bright the future prospects. He is exhausted and done for until he accumulates funds or re-establishes his credit. The man affrighted by the experience of others or doubtful over the outcome of properties as a result of some of the recent disclosures of questionable corporate promotions—he who lacks confidence, in other words, will not buy until he can see more clearly into the future.

While in Wall street the sharp decline in the Steel shares was accounted the most disturbing feature of the week, some bankers who take a broad view of things expressed greater concern over the break in British consols in London and the sharp advance in discount at that center. This was due doubtless to the fact that the decline in Steel shares could be accounted for by the further sharp cut in pig iron and the accumulation of financial stocks despite price concessions, while the fall in consols and the hardening of London discounts was not clearly explained.

New Discovries in Southwest Oil Fields, but They Are Not Satisfactory

The monotony that has characterized operations in the lower southwest oil fields for so many months was relieved slightly during the past week by several new discoveries. They were not all satisfactory, but they removed an existing doubt as to their future, and that was sufficient to claim some attention.

After it had been learned that the wildcat on the Beckett farm near Milton, Cabell county, W. Va., had been drilled deeper all inquiries were for information as to the results. Reports at first agreed that it was a good producer, judging from the way it started off when drilled into the sand formation a depth of about 10 feet. The well flowed at intervals of about 20 minutes each and produced about 10 barrels an hour based on the showing, the more conservative estimated its production of 200 barrels a day. This was the consensus of opinion so long as the well flowed by heads. At the expiration of 18 hours the well ceased to flow, and those who had first placed its production at 200 barrels a day, after waiting 12 hours for it to resume found it necessary to revise their estimates, and not a few came to the conclusion that it was next to a failure. Those who were of that opinion left for their respective homes, feeling no disappointment at not having acquired a lease.

For more than two years, or since the development of the Copley pool on Sand Fork, Lewis county, operators have been watching for a new discovery outside of the old defined limits, and the Cabell county strike is the first indication of the kind. Following a straight line from the nearest development, Burning Spring, in Wirt county, the difference is more than 60 miles. This would have been a big jump to the southwest from previous developments and would have confirmed a theory that has long existed as to a continuation of the producing formation in that direction.

When the well was first drilled in it was thought to have got its production in the Keener sand, and when drilled deeper to have scored an increase in oil and gas in the Big Injun. However, opinions have changed as to the sand formation, and it is now thought that the oil comes from the Ilas and not a sand formation.

It is possible that a pool of some size may be developed in that locality, but the lime formation is not held in great favor as a producer. In the lower edge of Monroe county, O., some good producers were found in the Big Lime, but dusters were found within a few hundred feet of some of the largest wells. Deposits of oil in the lime have been regarded as a freak of nature, and the experienced operator does not dare kindly to frown. It will not be long till time will be known of the surrounding territory.

Some of those over-anxious to secure leases met some peculiar demands on the part of land owners. Adjoining the Beckett farm, a bonus of $5,000 was paid for a farm, and it was stipulated that a test well was to be completed within 60 days. Several operators outfitted with a well had been drilled on each 20 acres of the 300-acre farm. Others contain unusual sentiments, and to comply with them will in all probability make a bad investment for some.

Those operating in the deep-sand territory in the northeast extension of the Pine Grove development in Wetzel county are seemingly up against a hard proposition. When on June 20 the South Penn Oil Company drilled in its test on the Eliza Sole farm, Sheriff Tarr got a gusher. It made that section look promising, and new work was started with a profligacy in that locality, all thinking that it was destined to be the big feature of the year. It was thought to be necessary only to punch a hole down to the top of the Gordon sand and tap the jugular and get a spouter.

The first two efforts to strike the vein have proved failures. The Kanawha Oil Company missed it at its test on the Millie Morris farm to the north 600 feet. To the west 900 feet the South Penn Oil Company has missed it at its test on the Eliza Sole farm. The first of these tests has been drilled through all sands and found nothing but a show of gas in the slate sand. The second has been drilled 10 feet into the Gordon and has found nothing. But is now fishing for a string of tools.

Midway between this well and the Showalter gusher the South Penn Company is drilling in the stray at a test on the J. L. Sole farm. This location is but 250 feet west of the big well and should be a producer of some kind. The size and strength of the Showalter well when it came in was the incentive for heavy investments on the part of those holding leases in that section. No fewer than 20 wells were started, some of which have been shut down since the oil came in a duster, and the loss will probably be heavier than in any other part of the lower southwest during the year.

To the north of the extension in the direction of the old Rocky Run development the Kanawha Oil Company met a pleasing surprise when it drilled in its second test on the C. P. Snodsmith farm. A 50-barrel well was the best expected at this location, but the well started to flow at the rate of 20 barrels an hour and placed 825 barrels to its credit the first 24 hours and 500 barrels the second 24 hours. Aside from the Showalter gusher this is the best producer that has been found in the Pine Grove extension, and in a measure compensates for the dry hole on the Millie Morris farm.

In the fine locality the South Penn Company is due in the sand at its second test on the A. T. Morris farm. On the east side of the Folsom district, in Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company drilled in its No. 2 on the Wesley Robinson farm and secured a good producer. In all other districts nothing but ordinary producers and the usual number of dusters were completed.

In many localities in the shallow-sand districts wildcatting is still prominent. Work of this character is confined to searching for extensions or spurs to some of the old pools. The result of this kind of work tends to swell the Custer list at the end of the month. Ritchie county has more attempts for new territory than any other county. On Hughes river and its tributaries there is a good deal of experimental drilling and under way in the Whisky Run extension. Two new producers were added during the week. All are located inside of defined limits and are of no particular importance.

Operators in the "Yellowhammer country" are not making any new discoveries, but are busily developing the old pools. In Monroe county there is some new work starting and other than any other county. On Hughes river and its tributaries there is a good deal of experimental drilling and under way in the Whisky Run extension. Two new producers were added during the week. All are located inside of defined limits and are of no particular importance.

Operators in the "Yellowhammer country" are not making any new discoveries, but are busily developing the old pools. In Monroe county there is some new work starting and drilling with a view to opening new producing territory. This class of work is confined to no particular locality, but extends through the west and southwestern part of the county. In the vicinity of Antioch the Ann Oil Company has been trying for some time, and it looks as though it would be successful.

In the shallow-sand districts in Washington county there is no let-up in the activity that has prevailed for so many months. In the Ishland district drillers are still coming in and new work is increasing. Nearly all the counties that have been producing have a considerable amount of experimental work.

One hears nearly every week of more or more alleged strikes outside of the counties in the producing column, but when these reports are investigated they lack confirmation. A short time ago a well was drilled in the town of Stark county. A little show of oil was developed, but it was heralded as a gusher, and when it was found that the end of the curbon train was run from Canton to see the spouter (?). The only response to the shot was to throw the water out that had been put in for sampling. Hundreds of spectators imagined that it was oil.

Looked at from any view point, there is nothing to indicate any part of the eastern fields that there is any immediate hope of staying the constant pull on the stocks in storage.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—River stationary since noon, with 6 feet 4 inches. The Tom Dodsworth took a tow of coal down to Cairo. None of the towboats that recently brought coal down have succeeded in getting back to Pittsburgh. Capt. W. C. Jutte, now selling coal in Europe, returns here next month to superintend shipments to New Orleans.

WHEELING—River 5 feet 4 inches and falling. Down, H. K. Bedford, Parkersburg, 8:30 a. m.; Cricket, Charleston, 3:30 p. m. Up, Kanawha, Pittsburgh, 6:30 p. m.

WARREN—River 1 foot 6 inches.

BEAVER—River 4 feet and falling.

PARKERSBURG—River 5 feet and falling. Down, The Chief, 1 p. m. Up, Ed Roberts, 1 p. m.; Tom Reed, 1 p. m.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet 2 inches and stationary. Woodward down Monday and Columbia up.

OIL CITY—River 2 feet and falling.

PARKERSBURG—River 6 feet and stationary.

POINT PLEASANT—River 3 feet 8 inches and falling.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 8 o'clock last night was 4.4 feet, and the river was falling.

RELAYS BRING IN EMPTIES.

Towboats to Return to Harbor—Packets Have Fair Stage of Water.

About 100 empties are being brought into the harbor by means of relays of steamers. Several steamers are tied up around Longstown and at other upper Ohio river points. The Enterprise brings the empties from these steamers to the head of Merriman's island, and there turns them over to the Charlie Hook, a light draught towboat, and they are thus brought into the harbor.

The Josh Cook and Fred Wilson are off the mailing ways at Elizabeth and will return to the harbor tomorrow. They have been kept above lock No. 2 on account of the repairs being made to that lock. It is expected that the lock will be opened tomorrow.

The Kanawha will leave tomorrow afternoon on her return trip for Kanawha river points. The Greenwood is expected to arrive today from Charleston. There is a fair stage of water in the rivers for these light packets.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET QUOTATIONS

Prices of Several Staples Tend Upward—Potatoes on a Decline—Meat Advances.

The local market for eatables was conspicuous last week for the upward tendency in the price of some staple articles of food. Flour has shown a disposition to advance in response to the reports of a big shortage in the foreign wheat crop and the disposition among farmers to hold their wheat for a higher price. Oats and corn have advanced, which, with the expected rise in hay, will make the price of cereals higher. Advices from the salmon packers indicate that this delicacy will be from 15 to 20 per cent higher in the local market, the change in prices to take effect in a few weeks at most. Eggs are up in price 1 cent and are expected to hold at that figure until they go higher. No cold storage eggs have appeared yet and dealers believe that prices will be advanced soon sufficient to draw them out. Butter went up ¼ cent Tuesday.

A notable exception to the higher prices on food is the lower quotations that hold for potatoes. The market has had a steady downward tendency all the week and prices have dropped 10 cents a bushel. Wednesday the quotations up the previous week considerably above the normal figure for this season and housewives have welcomed the drop to prices they can afford to pay. Receipts are good, but not enough to overstock the market and the demand is steady.

Fruit stands on an average about where it did a week ago. Grapes are more plenty, most of them coming from New York. Until Saturday the shipments were cleaned up every day. This week the lake varieties are expected from Ohio, which will probably cause a still further decline in price. Plums are very plenty and rule at lower figures. Apples are holding steady at quotations, with a very few fancy apples in market. Crabapples are in good stock and sales are turned enough to keep the supply down. Illinois canteloupes are practically out of market. Other varieties are plenty and they are the fastest sellers on the list. The cool weather the first of the week seriously affected the sale of watermelons, but it rallied Friday and good sales were reported.

Groceries hold firm at the prices quoted, with the market fairly active. Canned goods have softened no change in prices, but canned corn is expected to go up soon, owing to the short "pack" reported from the east. Coffee rules stronger in market. There is a disposition to place more orders and the advices from the coffee growing regions showing bad condition of the crop have advanced options 35 and 40 points. The price for green coffee has advanced ½ cent, but no change has been made in the quotations for package goods.

Provisions made a stiff advance, the rise being general. Celery has been a drug on the market most of the week, owing to the presence of much fruit, and cucumbers have moved slowly at the buyer's figures. Tomatoes are up a little. Other garden produce stands at quotations of a week ago, with the supply good.

In the grain and hay market very little business has been transacted. Receipts of hay are very light, not more than one-third what is often received at this time of year. No. 1 is in good demand and a little clover is arriving. Straw is very scarce, but no change has been noted in price. Oats and corn both went up. The quality of corn is poor, the weight of most of the receipts being from 28 to 30 pounds only, with some shipments as low as 22 pounds to the bushel. Middlings are scarce and the mills went up several days ago. Five came in fair quantities and stands at the quotations of last week.

RAIDED SPEAKEASIES.

Negro Club in Wylie Avenue Closed—Other Illegal Liquor Selling Cases.

Ellsworth West was fined $100 for keeping a disorderly house at 79 Roberts street, and four men found in the house were fined $5. Sadie Lewis of No. 1016 Wylie avenue was fined $100 and costs for illegal liquor selling. Mrs. Willard of No. 127 Elm street, arrested on the same charge, sent a doctor's certificate stating she was too ill to appear, and her hearing was postponed.

Charles Smith, a negro, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of illegal liquor selling at No. 1418 Wylie avenue. The place is known as the Washington club, and the police found 26 negroes there early yesterday morning and arrested them as visitors of a disorderly house. They were fined $5 and costs each.

Alice Harris, who was arrested for keeping a disorderly house at No. 2210 Mulberry alley, and six visitors, were each fined $1 and costs yesterday.

Magistrate Frank B. Harkins of the Third district, in the absence of Magistrate Samuel Abernathy, who is in Cleveland, held the hearings yesterday at Allegheny Central station. The house of Sarah Carter, at No. 616 River avenue, was raided late Saturday night. The proprietor, three women and four male visitors were arrested. The proprietor was fined $10 and the rest $5 and costs each.

NEW YORK WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

Statement of the associated banks of the city of New York, from reports to the New York clearing house, as required under section 16 of the constitution, for the week ended September 12:

BANK OF ENGLAND RAKES IN FLOATING CURRENCY

Keeping Rate Up to 4 Per Cent to Attract Investments from Continent.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

(Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 13.—In order to make its 4 per cent rate effective, the Bank of England during the past week has been taking money off the market by borrowing on stock to the amount of nearly $12,500,000. This action of the bank in reducing the supply of floating money is generally commended. It renders fresh gold shipments to the continent much less probable, and the continent will be able to employ money in London at about 4 per cent, an attractive rate compared with that in Paris, where money is under 3 per cent.

Under these conditions there is no longer an inducement to withdraw money from London for employment in Berlin. There is some talk of a further advance in the Bank of England rate. The market next week will have to find $22,500,000 to pay an installment on the Transvaal war, then falling due. Twelve millions now and the end of the year England will have to pay about $40,000,000 to German and Dutch investors for redemption of securities of the Netherlands South African railway.

The bank's reserve is now only $118,000,000. Usually between the beginning of September and Christmas the bank sends out to the country nearly $20,000,000 of cash, and toward the end of the year, apart altogether from the outflow of gold on the foreign account, the reserve may be reduced to about $100,000,000.

During most of the week the stock markets have been in what one writer in the Outlook describes as "a condition bordering on imbecility." There is a prevalent feeling that the pessimism of the past few days has been overcome. Even in the case of gilt-edged securities a much better tendency manifested itself soon after Friday's opening, although those naturally hen to bear the brunt of the rise in the value of money. The markets, however, are gradually becoming reconciled to higher rates, which are not, in the case of speculative departments at any rate, likely to become prohibitive.

Beggar Cursed Non-Yielders

William Hannon of Allegheny avenue, Allegheny, got 30 days in the workhouse yesterday for begging on the streets and cursing people who would give him nothing. He raised a commotion at several places.

BRYAN DEAD CARD DOWN IN DIXIE

Senator Clay Voices Sentiments of His Constituents in Vigorous Fashion.

THINKS GORMAN IS THE MAN

"Boy Orator of the Platt" Has No Following in Dixie Land—Prosperity Overshadows Things Political, According to This Democratic Leader.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.

Senator Clay declared today that Georgia and other southern states have practically determined to send Gorman delegations to the next Democratic convention. This declaration, coming from Senator Clay, carries with it the weight of his political influence and standing with the rank and file of the Georgia Democracy and his long experience as chairman of the state committee.

"What effect has Bryan's opposition to Senator Gorman and every other Democrat mentioned whose Democracy is not agreeable to his (Bryan's) individual taste?" Senator Clay was asked.

"None whatever," replied the senator in a tone of disgust. "Why, my dear sir, we are sick and tired of seeing Bryan's name in the newspapers. If the press of the country could but realize that he is no longer regarded seriously by the practical Democrats of the country they would ignore him. As soon as the newspapers drop him his occupation as self-constituted dictator of the Democratic party is gone. We are not paying any attention to him in Georgia. We have talked the subject over among ourselves and we have about concluded that Senator Gorman is not only the strongest man in the party we can nominate, but we believe there is an excellent opportunity of electing him. This estimate of Senator Gorman is not confined to Georgia, but it extends all through the southern states."

"But it is said that Mr. Bryan, with several western state delegations, will bolt Senator Gorman if he is the nominee of the Democratic convention."

"I do not wish to be profane in discussing Mr. Bryan," replied Senator Clay, endeavoring to control his pronounced disregard for the assurance of the "Boy Orator of the Platte," "but bolting is not new business with him. Some of us remember his performance in the Crisp-Mills contest for the speakership of the house of representatives, after the Democrats had secured control of the government after a struggle of many years. On that important occasion he bolted the action of a majority of the Democratic caucus who favored Representative Crisp, and stubbornly voted for Mr. Springer of Illinois, who was not regarded as a possibility at any stage of the contest.

"No. We Georgians have not much faith in Mr. Bryan's political judgment or his self-asserted leadership in view of the fact that he considered Mr. Springer a wiser and better leader of the Democrats in the house than Representative Crisp, who was the recognized leader of his party. Mr. Bryan is a dead card, so far as the south is concerned, and we have sufficient common sense and business tact to discourage all further attempts to play him off on a prosperous and a progressive country."

Senator Clay says that the business prosperity of the south is at present overshadowing all other questions. Politics is a secondary consideration compared with the price of cotton. The Republicans in the south, he says, are certain that President Roosevelt will be the Republican nominee.

RUSSIA RELUCTANT TO RELAX HER TIGHT HOLD

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PEKING, Sept. 13.—Russia has presented the Chinese government a new scheme for evacuating Manchuria, further prolonging the time for the evacuation, originally fixed for October 8, and proposing certain new condition, in addition to most of the conditions included in the last scheme. Russia now proposes to evacuate New Chwang and Mukden province October 8, Kirin province four months later, and the third province a year later.

Among the new conditions Russia stipulates that she still maintain military posts on the road from Tsitsihar, capital of Heilung-Kiang, to Blagovestchensk, and on the Sungari river. The reason Russia gives for maintaining these posts is that they are necessary to protect the commerce of the railroad.

There is a vaguely-worded clause prohibiting heavy duties on goods transported by the railway which the diplomats construe as exempting Russian goods transported on the railway from the surtax which the British-Japanese treaties substitute for the likin duties. It also contains a provision that Chinese troops shall protect the branches of the Russo-Chinese bank when necessary.

Prince Ching, president of the foreign board, has informed the ministers that he considers the Russian conditions to be very reasonable.

DISPUTE NOT ENDED.

Brazil and Bolivia Still Dickering About Little Republic of Acre.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 13.—The dispute between Bolivia and Brazil, with regard to the Acre territory, still remains unsettled, but a settlement is expected to be arranged shortly.

According to a dispatch from Rio Janeiro, August 11, Brazil and Bolivia had arrived at a basis for an amicable arrangement under which Bolivia would acknowledge Brazil's sovereignty over a great part of the Acre territory for the latter would pay an indemnity for the military expenditures incurred by Bolivia and would build another harbor on the river Madeira and a railroad from Manoro to Madeira.

On a Special Train.

One of the biggest theatrical trains that ever came into Pittsburgh arrived at Union station last evening over the Chicago & Ft. Wayne, bringing the "Babes in Toyland" extravaganza from the Windy City. There were 18 cars on the train. Manager Kirk of the Alvin theater, where the production is to be made, said the size of the show and its equipment are something of a record-breaker. Twenty-five thousand yards of linen are used for the scenery alone and 250 feet of lumber. There are 220 crates of properties and electrical apparatus.

REFUSES TO SHED INNOCENT BLOOD

Russian General Resigns Commission and Bluntly Tells Czar Why.

NICHOLAS IS MUCH DISTRESSED

Killing of Peaceful Civilians Whose Demands Were Just and Reasonable Too Much for Gen. Dragomiroff, One of Russia's Most Efficient Generals.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—A letter received here from St. Petersburg says that the czar is very much worried over the resignation of Gen. Dragomiroff, one of the ablest officers in the army, and in vain has tried to induce him to stay. The general, who was governor-general of Volhynia and commander-in-chief of all the troops in Southern Russia, resigned as a protest against the continued employment of troops to massacre political malcontents.

General Dragomiroff, who sacrifices a post in which he possessed almost royal powers and an income of $150,000 a year, is today the most popular man in Russia, since it became known that, called to St. Petersburg by the czar, he told the autocrat that he was ashamed of staining his hands with the blood of peaceful civilians, whose demands were just and reasonable.

The manly and brave stand taken by General Dragomiroff is generally admired even in the highest army circles and there are many indications that Russia despotism can no longer count on the blind support of the army. The czar is personally favorably impressed with the stand taken by Dragomiroff as he to a great extent sympathizes with modern liberal ideas, but he dreads a conflict with the ultra-reactionary party, which really rules Russia and which would step at nothing, not even murder, should the czar show any desire to give a freer constitution to Russia.

SIX MONTHS FOR MEN WHO MISTREAT WOMEN

Magistrate Vitchestain Soaked Two Yesterday—Another Comes Up Today.

Magistrate Joseph H. Vitchestain of the South Side police station, who is a terror to those who mistreat women, had two of those offenders before him yesterday, who were heavily fined, and he will give another alleged wife-beater a hearing today.

Joe Carr, residing in South Twenty-third street, was up on a charge of being a suspicious person. Thomas Cochrane, one of the witnesses, swore that while he was sitting on the steps of his home, s. Carson and South Second streets, he heard a woman scream under the railroad bridge. He ran to the place, followed closely by Policeman Patrick Tracy, and found Carr with his arm around a woman and his hand over her mouth, in the act of robbing her, it is said. Carr was quickly captured.

The woman he attempted to rob—Annie Parolia of South Seventh street, appeared against Carr. In default of $100 and costs he was sentenced to six months in the workhouse.

Don McCarthy of No. 1220 Muriel street, South Side, was given a like sentence. It was alleged that he beat his wife and children and refused to support them. In default of the $100 fine he will have to serve a six months' sentence.

Mrs. David Lewis of No. 1816 Carey alley, South Side, yesterday complained to the police of her husband beating her. She showed large lumps on her head, which she said were made by her husband striking her with a bottle.

Policeman Conrad Sill arrested Lewis. He will be given a hearing this morning.

DEMONSTRATION MADE AGAINST M. COMBES

Hostile Crowds Hiss French Premier Who Replies in Dignified Manner.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Sept. 13.—On the occasion of the unveiling of a memorial to Ernest Renan, the historian and orientalist, at his native town of Treguier, Brittany, today, some demonstrations were made against Premier Combes in the villages through which his carriage passed on the way to Treguier from Portrieux. Hisses and shouts of "A bas Combes," and "Vive la Liberte," were raised by the peasants. At the ceremonies at which speeches were delivered by the author, Anatole Francais, and others, Premier Combes in returning thanks for the excellent reception given him at the function, said:

"I heard a few hisses. Let me compare them to the melodies played on the flute behind the conqueror's chariot in olden times, to remind them that, raised by the people, they must govern by the people."

During the delivery of the speeches the antagonists of Premier Combes became so threatening trying to force the barrier and shouting denunciations of the mayor of Treguier, that the police and authorities being unable to restore order, a detachment of troops was ordered out. The soldiers forced the hostile crowd back and restored quiet.

WEDDING AT CAPITAL.

Gen. Young's Daughter Prepares for Her Marriage on October 7.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Miss Elizabeth Young, youngest daughter of Lieut. Gen. Young, has returned to Washington to make preparations for her wedding with Lieut. Hannay, which has been set for October 7, in this city. The ceremony will be performed in St. Thomas' Episcopal church at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The wedding will be followed by a reception at the home of Gen. Young in Nineteenth street. The ushers will all be officers of Lieut. Hannay's regiment, the Twenty-second Infantry. There will be six bridesmaids and a maid of honor, the latter being Miss Margaret Knight, niece of the bride elect and daughter of Maj. John Knight, now stationed in Philadelphia.

The color scheme for the wedding will be in honor of the infantry, the gowns of the bridesmaids also being of blue. Some of the bridesmaids are the Misses Kelly of Springfield, Ill., Miss Lolita Klein of St. Louis, Miss Gertrude Bayne and Miss Edith Needham of Washington.

COL. THOMAS G. SAMPLE MAY GET A NEW POSITION

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—The trouble in the soldiers' orphans' school commission may be settled at next Wednesday's meeting, by the election of Col. Thomas G. Sample of Allegheny as chief clerk. This position pays a salary of $2,000 annually and was filled for many years by ex-Mayor John D. Patterson of this city, who died last Tuesday. Sample is secretary and treasurer of the commission and during Patterson's illness he was in charge of the affairs of the commission.

KAISER SAYS HIS ARMY IS PREPARED

Ready to Take the Field at a Moment's Notice in Case of Trouble.

MODERN WAR WILL BE SHORT

Administrative Department of Fighting Establishment Should Be as Efficient as Possible—Germany, He Says, Desires Peace, but Can Fight If Necessary

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—At a recent dinner the kaiser highly praised the efficiency of the German army and especially emphasized the point that Germany was prepared to the smallest details should she be forced into a war with any one or more neighboring countries. He dwelt upon the report of the British commission on the South African war and said: "The revelations of this report clearly show to me that complete readiness is the first and most important point in any war. Precious lives and enormous expenditure can be saved if, at the beginning of a war, a nation is in readiness. The times of the Seven Years' war and the Thirty Years' war have passed forever. In modern times, a war will be necessarily short and decisive. It is therefore of extreme importance to have the administrative department of the army as efficient as possible. Only a soldier with many years' experience and the highest military training and with the best administrative and organizing talents ought to be called to the responsible position of commander-in-chief of a great army. It is exceedingly gratifying to know that the army of Germany in this respect is far superior to any other. We desire nothing more than peace, but we are to the minutest details prepared for any emergency that may arise."

FOREIGN EXHIBITS ARE LIBERALLY FINANCED

Thirty-five Independent Nations Will Be Represented at St. Louis Fair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—John Barrett, who visited Asia as commissioner general of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, has issued a statement with reference to foreign participation in the exposition. He says in part:

"Although in the introductory negotiations such important governments as Russia and Austria, in Europe, and Japan and China, in Asia, declined to participate, and the outlook was discouraging for other prominent nations, 35 of the 40 odd independent countries of the world now have formally accepted the invitation to take part, while not less than 16 of the great colonies of European nations are preparing comprehensive exhibits entirely apart from those of the home governments. The countries above mentioned as first refusing to be represented have finally reconsidered their action and decided to take part on an unprecedented scale.

"In short, 35 foreign lands, independent and dependent, will be seen in miniature, as it were, at St. Louis in 1904. A carefully prepared summary of the appropriations made or officially assured by foreign governments for pavilions and exhibits shows a grand total of $5,100,000. This exceeds by nearly $1,000,000 the amount correspondingly appropriated for the Chicago World's Fair in 1893, and represents an average of nearly $140,000 for each country. Europe will expend approximately $3,000,000; Asia, $2,000,000; Central and South America, $1,000,000; Africa, $200,000.

CASTRO SENDS TROOPS TO COLOMBIAN FRONTIER

Ambitious President of Venezuela Preparing for War With His Neighbor.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACAO, Sept. 13.—From every section of Venezuela troops were sent last week in the direction of the Colombian frontier and towards Maracaibo. Mauser rifles, artillary and ammunition in great quantities have been stored at Maracaibo and several new bridges have been built near San Cristobal, near the frontier of Colombia, to allow of the rapid concentration of troops. President Castro has asked the president of each state in Venezuela to send two battalions within two weeks.

A leading Venezuelan citizen, who is now here, in an interview regarding these military movements in Venezuela said he believed they were only precautionary measures regarding Colombia which, now the country is free from revolution, has reinforced recently its army on the Venezuelan frontier near Cucuta.

Other Venezuelans say a Venezuelan war with Colombia is inevitable in the near future as a consequence of the sympathy President Castro extended to the Colombian rebels during the recent rebellion, and also because of the question of navigation on the Orinoco. President Castro's great idea, they say, is a war with Colombia.

PORT OF SPAIN, ISLAND OF TRINIDAD, Sept. 13.—British government officials who have returned here from Caracas report that the Venezuelan government has refused up to now to pay its share of the fees of the foreign umpires in the matter of the claims against Venezuela, amounting to $5,000 and their expenses. The conduct of President Castro in such circumstances is inexplicable. It is understood that several of the foreign umpires have referred the matter to their governments, suggesting that Washington should interfere as being, in their view, morally responsible for the Venezuelan government.

FAMOUS STATE PAINTING NEGLECTED AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Rothermel's famous picture the "Battle of Gettysburg," will be ruined if it is allowed to hang much longer in its present position in the flag room of the executive building. The picture is beginning to sag, there is a strip one foot wide in the center and it is in constant danger of breaking from the frame. It contains the faces of several Pennsylvanians who fought in the battle and was painted for the state by P. F. Rothermel at a cost of $25,000.

Joker Fooled the Police.

Somebody telephoned to Acting Superintendent of Police T. D. Malone at 10 o'clock yesterday morning that a shooting affray was taking place at Wood and Water streets. Captain Mathew Gorman and Lieutenant Charles Grimes went to the location, but found no evidence of any trouble. The sender of the message could not be located.

PAID DEPARTMENT FOR ATLANTIC CITY

Firemen's Convention Opened Eyes of Officials to Its Need.

AN ORDINANCE IN COUNCILS

Will Likely Be Passed Today—Expect to Buy Portion of Volunteer Equipment for $100,000—May Be Some Trouble About Unnecessary Apparatus.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.

City officials have been awakened through the firemen's convention to the fact that Atlantic City needs a regularly organized department. Tomorrow councils will in all probability pass finally an ordinance and establish a pay department, a matter which has hung in the balance for months.

This city has apparatus and appliances equal if not superior to Trenton, Camden, and other cities of far greater population and wealth, but depends principally upon volunteer service, the only paid members of the department at present being the drivers and engineers. But a serious hitch is liable to occur when the city fathers reach the point of purchasing the property of the volunteers, and the deal is apt to cause political complications. It is understood that the city expects to acquire all the property and appliances it wishes for $100,000, which means that the properties of Atlantic Company, Beach Pirates and perhaps one or two other companies will not be taken over.

Some of the firemen want part of the money applied to the purchase of one of the buildings which the city will not want and convert it into a volunteer firemen's clubhouse.

RAIDED TWO CRAP GAMES.

One Shooter Got 60 Days for Hurling Oaths at a Policeman.

Nelson Saylor of No. 317 West Diamond street, Allegheny, got 60 days to the workhouse yesterday for shooting crap and cursing the police who arrested him. He was a winner in the game, but did not have enough to pay his fine.

A crap game at the foot of South First street, was raided yesterday afternoon by Special Officers Joseph Hilliard and J. J. Rogan, and two boys were placed under arrest charged with violating a city ordinance. They were William Lynch of No. 150 West Carson street and Harry Pliday of No. 129 McKeen street.

KAISER WILL ABOLISH THE OLD ARMY CANTEEN

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(Special Cable.)—It is becoming more and more evident that the kaiser intends to reform the German army into a strict temperance organization, by prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages at all canteens. Experiments have been made at different army posts, especially at Nuremberg, where the canteens during the last few months have sold nothing but tea, coffee, and lemonade, without a single protest from the rank and file. The issue of brandy and beer as part of the army ration will, it is said, be abolished throughout the whole empire in the near future.

ONCE WORTH $800,000; NOW WORKS AS BUTCHER

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 13.—(Special.)—Paul Schuster, formerly a merchant in Chicago, having a competency of $800,000, is working here as a butcher for Joel Crammer. Schuster came to town and began working for Crammer to seek John Fornies, a nephew, to whom the old man says he gave money years ago.

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhoea, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief.

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman. When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound, I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 109½ pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."—MRS. R. C. TUPMAN, 423 West 30th St., Richmond, Va. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.
